Contracting, Expanding.
Who Is Minding the Store?
The Governor of Oregon.
An Average Comet.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

ANY PHYSICIST will prove that no object can contract and expand at the same time. That applies even to our magnificent government.

Part of it is trying to contract by reducing wages, discharging men, choking off the public building programs. Another part is trying to expand by promoting employment, lending to banks, railroads and others hundreds of millions of the people's dollars.

The Siamese twins couldn't go in two directions at once, and the government can't do it.

SOON WASHINGTON will become a sunny desert. Congressmen that love to "sock the rich" will desire more strongly to go back and look after their fences before conventions start.

Then the country, left to its own devices, will remind you of a story told by Harry Hershfield in his new book of Jewish humor. A merchant on his death bed was delighted to know that his wife sat near him, although he could not see her, that all his children were gathered around his bedside. But suddenly came a dreadful thought, and with his last breath he exclaimed:

"Gevald, who is minding the store?"

THE OLD LADY in the London four-wheeler, long ago, afraid she would miss her train, told the driver to hit the horse on the stomach. He replied:

"I am saving his stomach for Ludgate Hill."

Congress seems to have reached Ludgate Hill in dealing with vanishing American incomes. Income tax was increased yesterday from 2 to 3 per cent on the first $4,000, to 6 per cent on the second $4,000, 9 per cent on incomes over $8,000, and almost 50 per cent on the big incomes.

If there is satisfaction in knowing that you are working for your dear government, the rich will have it.

JULIUS L. MEIER, Governor of Oregon, wires these facts:

In the Northwest lumber represents 65 per cent of industry. For every twelve carloads of lumber manufactured, manufacturers purchase and consume one carload of supplies. One thousand board feet of lumber represents a day's work in the saw mill and another in logging.

Lumber industry in the Northwest is reduced to 23 per cent of normal capacity, thanks to high tariffs against American lumber, Britain buying everything from Canada, now off the gold basis and selling cheaper. And because of low exchange Canada is selling lumber to the United States.

United States rail and water transportation suffers, as does all business life in the Northwest.

GOV. MEIER SAYS: "Under present conditions, with tariff barriers and the trade within the British Empire agreement, plus licensing systems and quota systems and the abandonment abroad of the gold standard, the United States is practically on a free trade basis.

"It has lost the major part of its foreign trade commerce."

That might interest our "sock the rich" Congress. Uncle Sam, richest of the rich, seems also to be enduring a good deal of "socking."

HARVARD OBSERVATORY reports the arrival of the Carrasco comet, tells you where to look for it in the sky and says it is "only of average size." Those words mean little to us, but figures mean a good deal. An "average comet" will have a tail many millions of miles long. A thousand globes the size of our earth could float along with that tail and not be noticed.

All the comets are slaves of the sun and the law of gravitation. They gallop away from the sun, as a little calf gallops from its mother, then come back again. The comet travels far, sometimes as much as twenty-five millions of millions of miles.

Before they understood comets, human beings feared them, thought the devil sent them and prayed to have them taken away. They thought a comet might destroy the earth, and that is not altogether impossible, although very improbable. There might be enough solid matter stored in the head of a comet to damage real estate values seriously.

MICHAEL CLEMENCEAU, able engineer, son of the great Clemenceau, without whose help France would have lost the war, tells newspaper publishers, gathered in New York, expecting to amaze, surprise and horrify them, that he left in France 300,000 unemployed.

He did not know, probably, that, according to Mr. Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, we have in this country more than 7,000,000 unemployed.

If there were seven millions, or half that number, unemployed in France, there would also be a good many statesmen and officeholders unemployed within a short time.

HIS BIG VICTORY in Massachusetts causes former Gov. Smith to opine that some Democrats will now drop the idea that they must get on the Roosevelt band wagon because there will be no other wagon in the procession.

In spite of Mr. Smith's victory in Massachusetts, and the heavy Smith vote in Pennsylvania, Mr.

'It Girl' Signs For Comeback As Film Star

CLARA BOW

Clara Bow to Make 'Call Her Savage' For Fox Studios

HOLLYWOOD, April 28.—(AP.)—Clara Bow has signed up with Fox Studios to go back into the movies.

She will go to work soon in a picture to be called "Call Her Savage," by Tiffany Thayer. No leading man or director has been chosen yet.

The red-haired actress has been in retirement since she left the screen about six months ago after a breakdown, which followed a host of troubles. Breaking off her film career at Paramount Studio, Miss Bow went to the Nevada ranch of Rex Bell, cowboy actor, for a long rest. They were married soon afterward.

The Fox contract is understood to be for six months with a renewal option for a long-term contract. It was reported unofficially that Miss Bow will receive between $125,000 and $150,000 for each picture under the Fox contract. The deal was engineer by Sam Bork, independent producer, who will be supervisor for the picture "Call Her Savage."

Took Cash for Food, Postmistress Paroled

Mrs. Mary Simchock, 35, former postmistress of Tire Hill, Somerset County, today in Federal Court pleaded guilty to embezzlement of $468.07 of postoffice funds in 1931. She was placed on probation for two years by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker. It was revealed she had made restitution. She confessed to using the money for living expenses and taxes on her mother's property. Her husband, a coal miner, has worked only one day a week for the past two years, she testified.

3 Killed as Trolley Crashes Into Auto

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 28.—Willard Grant, 30; Michael Brochen, 42, and his son, John Brochen, 19, were killed today when their automobile was struck by a trolley car at the crossing at Cardale, 10 miles southwest of here.

The men, milk dealers, were instantly killed, according to the Coroner's report. About 15 passengers on the car had to be transferred to other trolleys as the wreck tied up service for more than an hour.

HAWAII HONOR JURY REPORTED VOTING 10 TO 2 FOR ACQUITTAL

STADTFELD'S VOTE LEAD MOUNTS

Nomination Seems Assured; Smith-Roosevelt Fight Outcome Still in Doubt

Gaining steadily as late returns trickled in from all parts of the state, Judge Joseph Stadtfeld, of Pittsburgh, late today held a lead of more than 90,000 votes over Judge Robert S. Gawthrop, of West Chester, for the third of the three Republican nominations for the State Superior Court, where he now sits through appointment by Gov. Pinchot.

Allegheny County played an important part in Stadtfeld's apparent victory, complete, unofficial returns giving him a 96,918 lead over Gawthrop. The complete tabulation of the county's vote showed:

Stadtfeld	230,833
Gawthrop	133,915
James	108,147
Parker	94,081
Rutherford	43,529
MacDade	15,534

Stadtfeld late yesterday appeared to have been nosed out on the face of incomplete returns by Judge Gawthrop, who in turn was topped by Judge William M. Parker, of Oil City, and former Lieut. Gov. Arthur H. James, of Scranton. Last night, however, the Stadtfeld vote began to climb and today 6,977 districts out of the state's 8,181, gave the following tabulations:

James	659,072
Parker	652,811
Stadtfeld	621,811
Gawthrop	531,016

SUPPORTERS CONFIDENT

Gawthrop was expected to make heavy gains in the missing districts, but Stadtfeld's supporters expressed confidence that they would not be sufficient to cut down their candidate's margin.

Stadtfeld's overnight rally was a welcome boon to supporters of Gov. Pinchot, who had seen the candidates of their militant leader, with a few isolated exceptions, one of whom was Judge Parker, go down to defeat before the Republican organization's choices throughout the state.

DRY DISTRICTS TURN

In Allegheny County only four of the Pinchot candidates for Legislature appeared to have defeated their Organization opponents. They are Thomas Gallagher in the Sixth District; James H. Steele in the Tenth, and Wil-

Dog's Burial Costs Turfman $1,000

TIFFIN, O., April 28.—(AP.)—Baby Ginter, 11-year-old pomeranian, was buried in splendor today at a cost of $1,000.

Frank Callahan, wealthy owner of Grand Circuit race horses, ordered scores of floral pieces for the rites in the gardens of his estate. The body of his pet dog was placed in a $400 bronze casket and workmen built a concrete vault.

McGovern Lays County Payroll Cut to Economy

A great majority of the 111 county jobs vacated yesterday by the County Commissioners will be eliminated. Commissioner C. C. McGovern announced today from his bed in Valley Hospital, Sewickley. He added:

"These dismissals aren't politics at all, but economy. We haven't got the money, so we're eliminating most of these jobs. There'll be more dismissals as we go along. When we set the millage for this year we saw we'd have to cut expenses $850,000, and that's what we're trying to do."

County department heads, loath to admit any part in the Commissioners' action yesterday in firing 111 employes described as "payrollers," were revealed today as having carried out "their orders" in submitting lists of persons whose services could be dispensed with.

The Commissioners' action was taken over a negative vote of Commissioner W. D. Mansfield.

Lists were submitted by six of the seven department heads at yesterday's meeting. Three provisions were made, exempting em-

Reed Remains Silent On Election Outcome

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Senator David A. Reed today declined any comment on the senatorial primary in Pennsylvania so far as the overwhelming victory of Senator James J. Davis over Gen. Smedley Butler might be interpreted as a referendum on prohibition.

Senator Reed also declined to state whether the victory of Davis, who championed repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, would have any effect upon his own attitude toward prohibition. Senator Reed's term expires in two years.

SEEK DOCTOR IN CO-EDS' DEATHS

5 Girls Reported Victims of Illegal Operation 'Ring;' College Aids in Probe

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 28.—(AP.)—The disclosure that five girls have died here recently as the result of alleged illegal operations was made today by County Attorney Lewis R. Morris, investigating the deaths of two University of Oklahoma co-eds.

The co-eds, Mrs. Frank Lee, 17-year-old secret bride of a university athlete, and Virginia Lee Wyckoff, died here a few days ago.

Dr. Richard E. Thacker, physician and surgeon, charged with murder in the recent death of Miss Robbie Lou Thompson, 21-year-old telegraph company employe, has disappeared. Police throughout the country will be asked to search for him.

QUIZ SECOND DOCTOR

Another physician named by relatives of one of the dead co-eds will be questioned.

Morris said that before the death of the college girls, his office was working on two other similar cases. His early investigation, he said, revealed that several city homes were being used as hospitals.

He estimated a "ring of at least a dozen doctors" was performing the operations.

BLOOD TRANSFUSIONS

An investigator was assigned to check a report that six university students submitted to blood transfusions in an attempt to save one of the co-eds who died. This was an effort to learn the circumstances under which the girls were taken to hospitals.

Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of the university, located at Norman, said he was "determined to get to the bottom of the matter." School authorities are co-operating with state and county authorities in the inquiry.

ARMED MEN ON GUARD IN HONOLULU

Police on Alert to Prevent Violence as City Tensely Waits for Massie Verdict

By JAMES ADAM

International News Service.

HONOLULU, T. H., April 28.—(6:50 a. m., Honolulu time, 12:20 p. m. Pittsburgh time.)—Deadlocked over a decision in the Fortescue-Massie "honor-slaying" trial, the polyglot jury pondering the fate of four Americans accused of second degree murder was unofficially reported today to stand 10 to two for acquittal.

One of the two men holding out for conviction was rumored to be white. The report of the jury's balloting was entirely without confirmation, but was spread in official circles.

Meanwhile well-armed police guards continued their vigilance against any possible disorders.

The case against Mrs. Grace Hubbard Fortescue, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and the two naval enlisted men was given to the jury at 4:24 p. m. yesterday.

Today Prosecutor John C. Kelley learned for the first time that one white juror made the statement before he was ever selected that if he was on the jury he would never vote for a conviction, expressing the belief that the killing was justified. Kelley said:

"Of course I didn't know that when I accepted this man on the jury."

Kelley privately told his associates that he expected a mistrial as was the case with the five half-castes, including Joseph Kahahawai for whose killing the Americans were tried, when they were tried last autumn for assault on Mrs. Thalia Massie.

Chief Defense Counsel Clarence Darrow still hoped for acquittal.

Honolulu awaited the jury's decision with a tenseness strange to its tropical beauty.

The case was placed in the hands of the 12 men of widely varying racial strains at 4:24 p. m. yesterday (10:45 p. m., Pittsburgh time).

The jury, giving no indications of its temper after six hours of deliberation, was locked up for the night, and Judge Charles S. Davis ordered court to reconvene

GRID STAR SHOT BY ROBBER DIES

NEW YORK, April 28.—(INS.)—Sidney Harris, a former New York University football player, died in Fordham Hospital today as the result of a wound inflicted by a burglar, who so touched Harris with his pitiful story of poverty that he allowed him to get away.

Late last night Harris and a friend, Robert Kammer, of Syracuse, were visiting at the home of Mrs. Rudolph Perlman, Harris' sister.

Hearing a noise in the dining room of the house they investigated. There was a shot fired by the maurader and Harris felt a sharp pain in his abdomen. He and Kammer subdued the burglar who pleaded for his freedom, saying that it was his first robbery and that he had done it to get funds for his sick wife. Believing his story, Harris told him to leave.

A moment later Harris collapsed and was rushed to the hospital. Since his college days, Harris had been a professional boxer.

Pinchot Given Roosevelt's Honor Seat Near Hoover

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP.)—White House social arbiters today revised the seating list for President Hoover's dinner tonight to members of the governors' conference, replacing Gov. Roosevelt, of New York, whose seat was but one removed from Mr. Hoover, with Gov. Pinchot, of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Pinchot, who was defeated for Republican nomination to the House in Tuesday's Pennsylvania primary by Representative McFadden, will sit at the chief executive's left.

The original list was based upon the ranking given the governors at their Richmond conference. Thus some members of the conference's executive committee, of which Roosevelt is a member, were placed ahead of other governors who would outrank them by virtue of their state's earlier entrance into the union.

It was decided later to retain the precedent of seating governors at White House functions on a ranking based primarily upon the date of a state's entrance of the union.

Gov. Pollard, of Virginia, will be given the seat of honor at Mrs. Hoover's right because he was host to the governor's conference. Gov. Buck, of Delaware, whose state was the first to enter the union, will be at Mrs. Hoover's left, with Mrs. Buck immediately upon the President's right.

Gov. Roosevelt will sit about six seats away from the chief executive, with Gov. Ritchie, of Maryland, another Democratic candidate, nearby.

The President is expecting in all about 53 guests.

Tunney Boomed for Senate By Connecticut Friends

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion of the world, is being suggested by his friends in his home state of Coonecticut as a good man to run for the United States senatorship as the Democratic candidate against the incumbent, Senator Hiram Bingham.

Friends of Tunney, declaring him eminently fitted for such a post, despite his lack of political experience, say that because of his war record he would command the enthusiastic support of many members of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

They figure, too, that he could poll a heavy vote in the industrial cities of Bridgeport, Waterbury, New Haven, New Britain and elsewhere in the state where the economic pinch has been felt during the present national Republican regime.

Tunney himself seems surprised at the movement in his behalf. He said today he had "no offer" to run for the senatorship. Beyond that he was non-commital. He is living the life of a "gentleman farmer" at his country place near Stamford, Conn., and at the same time maintaining an apartment in New York, as he frequently has business to transact in the city.

Tunney's friends are confident he would be no novice in the game. The ex-champion is an Al Smith Democrat and in a quiet way has manifested keen interest in politics.

STADTFELD GAINS STEADILY, SEEMS CERTAIN OF VICTORY

HOLDS 90,000 LEAD OVER GAWTHORP

Allegheny Gives Tremendous Majority; Anti-Drys Hail Davis' Triumph

liam A. Walker and Albert B. Davidson in the Thirteenth.

Chief of the victims in the Pinchote rout was Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, an avowed prohibitionist, who went down to a crushing defeat as many of the state's former dry strongholds did an about-face and turned in majorities for his anti-dry opponent, United States Senator James J. Davis.

Riding on the crest of this anti-prohibition sentiment Davis sailed into renomination by a lead which may reach 400,000 in the state and almost three-to-one proportions in Allegheny County.

In the state, 7,312 districts gave:

Davis	817,919
Butler	463,178

The county with four districts missing, showed:

Davis	188,138
Butler	70,215

A peculiarity of the county vote is that, although Allegheny is listed as having 936 district, one of them, in Trafford, actually votes in Westmoreland County.

Ralph E. Flinn, of Pittsburgh, backed by Gov. Pinchot for state Auditor General, carried his home county by a substantial margin but lost out as the balance of the state swung strongly to Frank E. Baldwin, of Chester, organization candidate. With four districts missing the county gave:

Flinn	128,986
Baldwin	97,440

ANTI-DRYS CHEERED

This was Davis' first campaign as an announced anti-prohibitionist and his sweeping victory cheered repeal and amendment advocates throughout the nation. Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, in Washington, said:

"The decisive defeat of Butler in Pennsylvania breaks the back of prohibition in the strongest Republican state in the Union.

"Butler is a bone-dry-Pinchot product and the campaign was fought on that issue.

"Dry leaders said that the Pennsylvania contest was to be the crucial fight for prohibition. I thought so, too.

"Now, what are the Republicans going to do about it?"

The Democratic fight for presidential preference and candidates to the party convention at Chicago in June was close and bitter throughout the state.

The names of Alfred E. Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt were the only ones on the ballot and Allegheny County, with 70 districts missing, gave:

Roosevelt	5,683
Smith	5,225

Seven of the eight convention delegates named in the county were Roosevelt men, with the eighth place closely contested by another follower of the New York Governor.

20,000 LEAD

The state had given Roosevelt a 20,000 lead with 6,249 of the 8,181 districts accounted for and showing:

Roosevelt	96,597
Smith	77,602

Philadelphia returns early gave Smith a 9,000 advantage, but the rural districts slowly but surely cut this down and then edged Roosevelt steadily into the lead.

Returns were available on only a portion of the state's 76 delegates.

RIVAL CLAIMS

While the results in disputed districts were still in doubt Roosevelt headquarters issued a statement claiming 60 of the delegates, listing eight as doubtful and admitting the loss of eight.

Several of the delegates claimed by the Roosevelt faction, however, also were claimed by Smith backers as supporting their candidate.

The uncertainty arises over the many categories into which delegate candidates were placed.

Some were definitely committed to vote for Roosevelt or Smith.

Others agreed to abide by the outcome of the presidential preference vote in their individual districts.

Still others said they would not abide by the preferential vote and became virtually uninstructed delegates. In this class, however, were some who had distinct leaning toward one or the other of the presidential candidates.

Eight of the 76 delegates are elected as delegates-at-large, 68 as district delegates.

Four of the eight were members of a "harmony slate" backed by both the Roosevelt and Smith factions.

In the fight for the remaining places, four Roosevelt-pledged candidates were leading the four who favor Smith.

Roosevelt's victory in Pennsylvania was regarded as offsetting his defeat by Smith in Massachusetts, an occurance which raised the latter to the position of a definite threat to Roosevelt's presidential aspirations.

Republican national leaders claimed that the Pennsylvania election, coupled with that of Kentucky, assured the renomination of President Hoover.

Prior to the balloting in these states, Hoover had 875 instructed, pledged or claimed delegates.

Pennsylvania and Kentucky delegates swelled this number to more than 600, Republican chieftains said, with only 378 needed to nominate.

Gen. Edward Martin, Republican state chairman, said:

"A Hoover wave went over Pennsylvania Tuesday. The delegation to the national convention will be practically solid for the renomination of the President."

Independents Gain for Assembly

Four independent candidates apparently fought their way out of the pack in spirited district contests to nominations for the Legislature from Allegheny County and others were shaken off only by desperate organization effort.

A number of veteran legislators were casualties in the primary election. Edward B. Goehring, who for a number of terms was a stalwart in the dry ranks and was the sole advocate of the Blue Law from Pittsburgh proper, William T. Bell, W. E. Tucker, Negro representative, Arthur Storer, T. W. Neely, Sr., Louis K. Hagmaier, Fred C. Gangloff, Coraopolis Burgess, and Clayton Dietrich were defeated for renomination.

Only 13 of the 27 Allegheny County representatives in the lower House are assured of renomination by the returns due to defeats and retirements.

INDEPENDENTS WIN

Four Independents certainly nominated were Thomas Gallagher, in the Sixth District; James H. Steele in the Tenth and Wilwilliam A. Walker and Albert B. Davidson, former member, in the Tenth.

For the State Senate, in the only contest in the county Senator James J. Coyne was renominated in the Forty-third District by a 2 to 1 vote over his Independent opponent, E. J. Wuerthele. Returns from 94 out of 104 districts give:

Coyne	17,769
Wuerthele	8,572

Senator Frank J. Harris was unopposed in the Forty-fifth District.

The nominations for the State Senate and House gave evidence of a pronounced public sentiment for repeal of the Snyder dry act and the Blue Laws of the state. All but six of the 29 Senators and Representatives nominated have advocated repeal of these laws.

DAVIDSON WINS

Close races between Organization and Independent candidates featured several of the legislative contests.

In the Thirteenth district Walker easily won first place, dividing the district, which chooses two legislators, with the Organization until the last three districts reported.

The final figures, however, showed Davidson into second place over his Organization opponent, William L. Brown.

A strenuous battle was waged in the Twelfth District, where H. C. A. Hofacker and Ronald Thompson, Independents, closely contested with John M. O'Rourke for fourth place until the final returns, which showed O'Rourke the victor. John Heinz and John J. Kane, Independents, gave a good account of themselves in the Sixth District.

McKeesport, comprising the Ninth Legislative District, presented a close race, between two organization candidates, with James K. Ruby being declared the winner over Clarence C. Johnson, supported by County Commissioner William D. Mansfield, by 120 votes. Complete returns gave Ruby 3,366 and Johnson 3,246.

Results in the legislative districts, complete or virtually complete in all but the Twelfth District, show these totals:

NORBECK FLAYS BANKERS ON LOAN CURB

Failure to Pass on Credit Extended by Reserve Hit at Market Quiz

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Declaring bankers are adding to the deflation by refusing to grant new loans or extend old ones, Senator Norbeck (Rep.), of South Dakota, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, today warned if the bankers continue this policy he will summon them to Washington for an explanation.

Norbeck charged the bankers were responsible for current deflation by failing to pass on to the public the credit extended them by the Federal Reserve system. He cited that, while the Federal Reserve had given banks $113,000,000 additional credit in the last three weeks, bank loans on securities declined $309,000,000.

EFFECT LOST

Norbeck said the effect of the Reconstruction Finance and Glass-Steagall bills would be lost unless the banks passed the benefits to the public. He added:

"If this liquidation continues, we must find out what part the bankers are playing in forcing down the value of American property to "junk" prices. The bear raiders are bad enough; the bankers should not help them!"

Meanwhile, the Senate's stock market inquiry abated today when charges were placed before the committee that one of its "star witnesses" last week had been found guilty of a financial crime in Wall street.

The witness, Edward Knight, an accountant, was reported to have pleaded guilty to a fiscal offense in 1929. He appeared before the committee voluntarily last week to tell how "pool operators" skyrocketed prices before unloading. He said the Radio pool, in which Percy A. Rockefeller, John J. Raskob, W. C. Durant, William F. Kenny and Fred J. Fisher participated, had inflated that stock from 100 to 500 before "dumping" it.

SENATORS SHAKEN

The new "board of strategy," named by Chairman Norbeck, to plot a program of action, was visibly shaken by the charges against Knight. They announced in no uncertain terms that all future witnesses would be "investigated" before being allowed to testify.

Alaska Democrats Go for Roosevelt

JUNEAU, Alaska, April 28.—(AP)—The election of the Franklin D. Roosevelt pledged delegation to the Democratic national convention headed by John W. Troy, chairman of the territorial Democratic committee, appeared assured today as late returns continued to trickle in from Tuesday's primary.

With six votes at the convention, both contesting slates of delegates were pledged to the New York Governor. The delegation to the Republican convention is avowedly pro-Hoover.

OPERA STAR MARRIED

GLADYS SWARTHOUT . . . NOW MRS. FRANK M. CHAPMAN, JR.

Miss Swarthout, young contralto star of Metropolitan Opera, quietly married several days ago at Tenafly, N. J., to Baritone Chapman, the concert singer. She recently complained of boyish parts in opera, would prefer to be in Juliet roles.

OPERATIC STAR WEDS SECRETLY

NEW YORK, April 28.—(AP)—Gladys Swarthout, young Metropolitan Opera star, who recently bemoaned the fact that she was given boyish parts when her heart's desire was to be a Juliet, has found a romantic role to her liking—but it's off the stage.

The dark-haired contralto from Deepwater, Mo., is now Mrs. Frank M. Chapman, Jr., and has been for a couple of days, an announcement last night disclosed. She was married privately to Mr. Chapman, a concert baritone, at Tenafly, N. J., this week.

After singing with the Chicago Civic Opera Company and the Ravinia Opera Company, Miss Swarthout came here in 1929 and advanced quickly to the position of a leading contralto, singing a repertory of some 25 operas.

ROOSEVELT'S BACKERS WIN IN COUNTY

Cary 9 Out of 10 Delegate Places; Independents, Pinchot Men Defeated

A triumph in Democratic contests for delegates favoring Gov. Franklin Roosevelt for nine out of 10 places and a victory by the regular Republican organization candidates for national delegates and for state committee were recorded in returns for Allegheny County.

Republican candidates under the influence of the Independent wing or supporters of Gov. Gifford Pinchot in the state committee or national delegate contests were unsuccessful, although several were supported jointly by organization and independent elements.

In the Congressional contests, City Councilman Michael J. Muldowney ousted Congressman P. J. Sullivan in the Thirty-second District, winning the nomination by a decisive margin. Returns from 129 of the 130 districts give Muldowney 19,755 and Sullivan 10,418.

OTHERS RENOMINATED

Other congressmen were easily renominated. M. Clyde Kelly winning handily in the Thirty-first District with 175 districts out of 212 giving him 25,131 to 9,464 for Maurice I. Thompson. Harry A. Estep received 25,693 votes to 15,763 for Henry Ellenbogen in 150 out of 170 districts in the Thirty-third and Congressman Edmund F. Erk and Guy E. Campbell won easily.

For Republican delegates, Hugh F. McKnight, organization, and Joseph C. Trees, with organization and independent support, won over Mrs. Mary Flinn Lawrence in the Thirtieth District. The vote in 160 out of 185 districts was: Trees, 28,788; McKnight, 27,049; Lawrence, 19,016.

In the Thirty-third district, Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell, with organization and independent support, and Director of Public Safety James M. Clark, organization candidate, defeated Congressman P. J. McArdle and former Congressman James M. Magee. In 150 out of 170 districts the vote was: Mackrell, 28,890; Clark, 21,415; McArdle, 18,487; Magee, 13,619.

MAX LESLIE WINS

In the Thirty-first district C. L. Kelly and Charles P. Howe were unopposed, in the Thirty-second district Max G. Leslie and Walter Bonits won and in the Thirty-fourth district Attorneys Harry McWhinney and James Duff defeated Attorney Clarence B. Nixon and former Sheriff William S. Haddock, all organization victories. The complete vote in the Thirty-fourth was: Duff, 20,761; McWhinney, 18,694; Haddock, 17,257; Nixon, 17,196.

Democratic delegates favoring Roosevelt appeared to have won in the Thirty-third, where Patrick T. Fagan and Edward R. Frey, Roosevelt supporters, are leading John P. O'Neil, E. Lowry Humes and Donald C. Anderson, unpledged. In the Thirtieth District former County Commissioner James Houlahen and Bernard B. McGinness, supporters of Roosevelt; in the Thirty-first District Burgess William M. Turner, of Wilkinsburg, supporter of Roosevelt, and G. Malcolm McDonald, supporting Smith; in the Thirty-second District William N. McNair and Harry F. Logsdon and in the Thirty-fourth District John McCarthy and C. B. Burns, all Roosevelt supporters, appeared to be victors with safe margins.

With a man and woman in each of the county's six senatorial districts to be nominated for Republican state committee members, late returns showed the Regulars won four of the men's places and six of the women's. Independents won two of the men's places with no united Regular opposition. Apparent winners:

Thirty-eighth District — W. P. Gallagher, Independent, supported by a large part of the Regular organization, and Sarah Ford, Regular.

Fortieth District — John A. Schrader, Regular, and Margaret Bowers, Regular.

Forty-second District—William A. Herd, Regular, and Anna Coleman, Regular.

Forty-third District — Roy T. Clunk, Regular, and Mary Conwell, Regular.

Forty-fourth District—J. Denny O'Neill, Independent, with no Regular opposition, and Helen Douglas, Regular.

Forty-fifth District — John T. Potts, Regular, and Eva V. Holliday, Regular.

The voters displayed lack of seriousness in their balloting and many took the opportunity to write in names which occurred to them on the spur of the moment.

$169,000 FEE IN VOTE MACHINES' SALE BARED AT HEARING

POOLE COMPANY EX-OFFICIAL TESTIFIES

Names Dealer in Second Mortgages as Receiver Of Large Commissions

By E. P. O'BRIEN
Staff Correspondent.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 28.—Payments of $169,000 were made to C. G. Brown as commissions on the sale of voting machines to Allegheny County, according to the testimony of C. L. Wannen, assistant treasurer of the Poole Engineering and Machine Company, at the hearing today before Referee in Bankruptcy Willis E. Myers.

Brown is in the second mortgage business in the Grant Building, Pittsburgh, and is an officer of the Electromatic Voting Machine Company, which was organized by Attorney H. D. Hirsh.

$15,000 EXCESS

The $169,000 was $15,000 in excess of the amount called for in the contract that the Electromatic company had with the Poole company and the Commercial Credit Company, Wannen testified on examination by Assistant County Solicitor Ralph H. Frank.

In explanation of the payment, Attorney Hirsh, during the hearing this morning, asked that S. Procter Brady be called to the stand and he testified that the additional $15,000 was paid to Brown for counsel fees. Hirsh also is counsel for the Electromatic company.

Hirsh took quite an active part in the proceedings today. Wannen testified that all of the money except $21,840 was paid by check to Brown. The $21,840 was paid to Hirsh in cash September 24, 1931, Wannen testified. In the Commercial Credit Company's offices he was instructed to get the cash in $100 and $50 bills, Wannen said, but could give no reason why specific instructions had been given him as to the denomination of the bills.

VOLUNTEERS TO SIGN

Asked by Wannen to give a receipt for the $21,840, Hirsh refused, Wannen testified.

Hirsh volunteered from the audience:

"I'll sign the receipt now."

To which Frank retorted:

"The gentleman's assistance is welcome, but I must insist that it is not a necessary part of the procedure."

William Penn Hotel stationery came into the picture as an exhibit A. Pen and ink authorization to pay Brown $40,000 out of the final payment made the Poole company by Allegheny County was made out on the hotel stationery signed by Brady. All payments, except the $21,840 cash, made by the Poole company, were made directly to Brown, both Frady and Wannen testified, and at the direction of an official of the Commercial Credit Company.

In addition to the interest charges for financing the Poole company, a "compensation account" for the Commercial Credit Company has accrued credits of $245,065, which Wannen testified are bonuses due the credit company, but which were not paid. Analysis of this account by Wannen's testimony, showed that out of the $1,019 paid for each voting machine, the Electromatic company was receiving $140 and the Commercial Credit Company, $245.

AGREE TO CHECK UP

At the conclusion of the hearing, Frank stated for the record that Hirsh and Chet Cooke, president of the Electromatic Voting Machine Company, had voluntarily agreed to permit examination of all the books of the company.

Today's hearing ended the preliminary inquiry into the affairs of the bankrupt Poole company. In the opinion of interested counsel it is the forerunner of further litigation on the part of creditors of the company who may seek to recover frfom the Commercial Credit Company.

Paralyzed Policeman Wins 1,000-to-1 Gamble With Life Under Knife

NEW YORK, April 28.—(AP.)—Patrolman Jack Kennedy, of the Nassau County police, took a thousand-to-one chance in a gamble with death today, and won.

For four years ago Kennedy has been paralyzed from the waist down, the result of a bullet in the spine received when he entered a thicket at Woodmere, Long Island, to learn why an automobile was parked without lights.

Recently he was informed that the full pay he had been receiving would have to be materially reduced. He didn't think that he, his wife and their child could live on the smaller income. He told doctors:

"I've got to get well and go back to work. What is my chance in an operation?"

"A thousand to one against you."

"I'll take the chance. If I don't come through my wife and child can live on the smaller pay."

So they operated today, taking the right leg off at the hip.

Dr. Henry Milch said:

"Sheer will power carried him through. He is one of the bravest men I ever met—a good soldier. He will live."

"Doc, you're a good scout."

So Kennedy whispered after the operation, and his smile was a shadowy likeness of the grin his fellow officers used to know four years ago when he was known to the county force as "Handsome Jack."

Police Told to Check South Hills Speeders

A complaint regarding dangerous traffic conditions at the safety zone at Capital and West Liberty avenues, South Hills, has resulted in City Council requesting Inspector Jacob Dorsey to assign officers for a crusade against speeders in that district.

A complaint was made by Mrs. Charles Redmond, of 1820 Plainview avenue, and Mrs. Birdie Paul, of 2036 Pioneer avenue. Council referred to the Better Traffic Committee a request for a stop light at the intersection, and changes in the safety platforms.

Razor Blade Maker Ends Life With Gun

SHEFFIELD, England, April 28.—(INS.)—Paul Richard Kuehnrich, 70, steel magnate and a pioneer manufacturer of safety razor blades, committed suicide today. He fired two shots from a double-barreled sporting gun.

Kuenrich recently suffered heavy losses through flotation of a rustless steel corporation.

Hurley's Plane Ties Cleveland-N. Y. Mark

NEW YORK, April 28.—(INS.)—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, who will address a meeting of publishers here tonight, flew to Newark, N. J., from Cleveland in an airplane in 2 hours 10 minutes, equalling the record established for the 418 miles by C. S. Sampson.

Lieut. C. U. Cousland piloted the plane, an Army observation craft. Cousland believed he would have bettered the record had he not been forced to fly around a snowstorm at Hazelton, Pa.

Ohio Poet Lost at Sea In Fall From Liner

NEW YORK, April 28.—(AP.)—Verification of the fact that Hart Crane, Cleveland poet, had been lost at sea from the liner Orizaba was received by the Ward Line today, but details were still lacking.

First report of the poet's death was received by his uncle in Cleveland last night from a passenger on the Orizaba. The line immediately wirelessed for confirmation and late last night received the following message from the ship, which was made public today:

"Hart Crane went overboard at noon today. Body not recovered."

The poet sailed for New York from Vera Cruz Saturday after spending nearly a year in Mexico carrying on work in creative poetry as provided in a $2,500 Guggenheim fellowship he won last year.

Crane, 33, was known as an imagist poet. He was the author of "White Buildings" and "The Bridge."

Born in Garrettsville, O., Crane began to write poetry while still in high school. His father, Clarence Crane, who died at Chagrin Falls, O., last summer, was a candy manufacturer.

MEXICO CITY, April 28.—(AP.)—Hart Crane, the American poet, who was lost overboard from the steamer Orizaba yesterday, had been deeply effected by the death of his father last summer, his friends here said.

Last week, they said, Crane threatened to kill himself and a friend was with him on the way home aboard the Orizaba to prevent a possible attempt at suicide.

KILLER SUSPECT ELUDES 200

FARMINGDALE, N. Y., April 28.—(AP.)—A Negro sought for murder today threw this Long Island countryside into a furore during which some 200 police, armed with machine guns and tear gas bombs, converged on this village, but the suspect disappeared in the scramble.

Willie Jackson, the Negro, is wanted for fatally stabbing another Negro in Corona two months ago. Today he was seen on the old brickworks road and a constable followed him. Jackson ran into an abandoned house shouting:

"Come and get me."

A few minutes later police wires were buzzing with reports of a murderer at bay. Some of the reports mentioned several murderers and added that they were already fighting it out with police at the scene. Police automobiles thundered along, but when the 200 officers, armed and ready for battle, approached the abandoned shack, they found the constable sitting in the doorway, smoking his pipe. He explained:

"Jackson must have gone out the window while I was telephoning."

3 Bandits Escape As Police Pay Toll

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—(INS.)—Three holdup men escaped here today when a toll collector held up three pursuing motorcycle policemen to collect three dimes.

CRASH OF TRAIN WRECKS HOME

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 28.—(AP.)—Engineer James Groves and Fireman Schinning, both of Battle Creek, Mich., were scalded to death and two other persons were injured when the Maple Leaf passenger train of the Grand Trunk Railroad, en route from Montreal to Chicago, was derailed here today and one of its baggage cars plunged off a high elevation embankment on a house.

Apparently none of the train's passengers was injured and none of the coaches overturned. Police and volunteer workers, however, searched the ruins of the house for other possible victims. The two injured, neither seriously, were 5-year-old Marshall Bradburn and his father, who were asleep in the house.

The boy miraculously escaped death. He was in bed in the rear of the house while his parents slept in the front. The heavy baggage car almost demolished the rear part, and workers were compelled to fight their way through the wreckage to reach Marshall. Mrs. Bradburn was not injured.

3 Jobless Men Die When Shack Burns

NEW YORK, April 28.—(INS.)—A wooden shack that served five jobless men as a home today proved a deathtrap for three of them.

A bonfire set a burlap covering over the entrance of the ramshackle building aflame. Two of the quintet inside escaped.

HEIRESS' DEATH PROBE REVIVED

HONOLULU, April 28.—(AP.)—The inquiry into the death of Mrs. Granville Sevier, Irvington, N. Y., heiress and wife of Col. Granville Sevier, U. S. A., may be reopened as a result of a decision by the territorial Supreme Court permitting a second autopsy on her her body.

Mrs. Sevier died here September 27, 1928. Her brother, Ralph Shainwald, expressed the belief she had been poisoned. An autopsy failed to reveal definite evidence. When Mrs. Sevier's brother asked another post-mortem examination Col. Sevier opposed it. Sheriff Patrick Gleason said he would defer another autopsy until word was received from Shainwald.

A new inquest was made possible when the high court yesterday affirmed a Circuit Court decision denying an injunction to restrain the sheriff from proceeding with another examination of the body.

Col. Sevier, who commanded the 64th Coast Artillery at Fort Shafter here two years, retired recently and was believed to be in his home city, Nashville, Tenn.

FAMILIES FLEE UPTOWN FIRE

Several families were driven from a fire in a five-story building at 1410-12 Fifth avenue this afternoon. Because of the dense smoke, two alarms were sounded, but Fire Chief Richard Smith estimated the damage at no more than $4,000.

The closed Merchants Savings and Trust Company, on the first floor, was not damaged. The flames swept up a chute in the rear and damaged several apartments.

Poisoned, Out-Walks Death Through Night and Day, Then Begins Week's Nap

NEWARK, N. J., April 28.—(AP.)—Howard Edwards, who swallowed a sleeping potion with the net result that he got no rest for 24 hours, cast a dirty look at a hollow-eyed orderly last night and fell into a deep slumber. Just before his lids closed, he said:

"G'wan away, fellow. I don't want to be called for a week."

If Morpheus had caught up with him an hour sooner, it would have been the sleep that knows no waking—and that is why Edwards took the longest stroll a tired man ever took without getting anywhere.

It was Tuesday night when Edwards, a 30-year-old salesman, felt the need of something to induce repose. He walked to his medicine chest and took a dose of sleeping potion—in fact he miscalculated and, by accident, took enough to put three men to sleep.

The stupor came on him so quickly that his mother became alarmed and he was removed to City Hospital. Then his troubles began. Doctors said that if Edwards went to sleep his heart would succumb to the repressive action of the potion, and would cease to beat.

Two orderlies took him out into a corridor. They walked him 50 feet and then retraced their steps. This went on for a quarter hour, and then they put him in a wheel chair. Whenever he showed signs of quiescence, out of the wheel chair they would drag him and take him for another walk.

Not until nearly 5 o'clock last night did they take a chance and put him to bed, his cheeks sunken, his complexion ghastly. Even then, for three long hours, an orderly would dash in every 10 minutes, seize him by the shoulders and shake violently.

Finally, at 8 p. m., with the danger over, they let him go to sleep.

Haberdashery Fire Causes $200 Loss

Damage estimated at $200 resulted from a fire in the Hub Haberdashery, 610 North Homewood avenue, last night. The flames, which started in the walls on the first floor, were quickly extinguished by firemen.

HOME PAPERS' USE URGED

Normal business with profit is better than large volume without profit, according to Phil Paley, of Kaufmann's Department Store, who returned today from addressing the 38th annual convention of American Manufacturers of Toilet Articles in the Ambassador Hotel, New York City, yesterday.

Mr. Paley said:

"The goal of both manufacturers and retailers should be normal business with a profit. Volume without profit has been the ruination of trade.

"Members of the cosmetic industry are wastefully competing with each other in offering abnormal combinations of items in special offerings to dispense free goods to dealers. Manufacturers must protect the retail prices of their products or else retailers will be forced to feature store brands."

Mr. Paley strongly urged promotion of advertising campaigns in local newspapers rather than over-emphasis on national advertising in magazines.

The convention concludes today with an address by Dr. James M. Doran, commissioner of industrial alcohol.

to hear what if any verdict had been reached at 9 a. m., Honolulu time (3:30 p. m., Pittsburgh time.)

Ringing in the ears of the jurymen was one of the most eloquent pleas of legal history, and possibly the last the master defender, Clarence Darrow, may ever make.

Playing on two dominant chords—the "unwritten law" and the insanity of Lieut. Massie—Darrow asked for mercy.

Climaxing Darrow's tender speech, Prosecutor John C. Kelley demanded "law enforcement and justice."

Honolulu showed no signs of racial feeling, but nevertheless dusky uniformed officers with pistols at their belts patrolled the "Hall of the Chiefs," the scene of the trial.

Two police radio automobiles, equipped with machine guns, were parked near the building, and the naval yard patrol was held in readiness.

DEFENDANTS APPREHENSIVE

The four defendants waited in their hotels apprehensive, their friends said, of a conviction, although the street discussion in Honolulu centered on a hung jury, if not acquittal.

Lieut. Massie was particularly downcast. It was he who took the blame for the killing of Joseph Kahahawai, accused ringleader of the five men who attacked his beautiful young wife. A naval officer friend said:

"Tommy is afraid that he will be convicted and get the limit."

Judge Davis ordered the jury to bring in separate verdicts on all four defendants. Guilty as charged of second degree murder would mean life sentences. Guilty of manslaughter, a possibility, would mean sentences of not more than 10 years. Lieut. Massie alone can be found not guilty by reason of insanity.

The scene of the jury's deliberations is a spacious room on the second floor of the ancient courthouse where in olden days Hawaiian chiefs often gathered in solemn conclave.

KELLEY DENOUNCES NAVY

A balcony leads off from the room. Inside, little knots of jurymen could be seen pacing up and down.

Darrow appeared fatigued after his stirring address to the jury. The weight of his years oppressed him, but the warm congratulations he won, even from Kelley, served to raise his spirits.

Wide discussion followed Kelley's closing speech, termed by many as political in import. He climaxed a fiery denunciation of the Navy by shouting:

"As long as an admiral's pennant does not fly from our flagpole and as long as the Stars and Stripes still are there you must uphold the law."

Judge Davis announced that he would hold the jury to its deliberations for a "reasonable length of time." The longest any jury has ever been out in a criminal trial in Hawaii was in the trial of the five men accused of attacking Mrs. Massie, when the deliberations were carried on for 96 hours without reaching a verdict.

MASTERLY APPEAL

Darrow's masterly closing speech, bringing tears to many eyes, contained such telling phrases as:

"Suppose you jurors heard from your wives the story that Lieut. Massie heard from his. What would have been the effect on your minds?"

"Is there no justice outside a courthouse?"

"A appeal to you gentlemen to put yourselves in the places of these defendants.

"Lieut. Massie wanted to get a confession to clear the name of his wife. He did not want to beat anyone—to kill anyone.

"Mrs. Fortescue was a mother first of all. Her child called and she answered. Now she is here in this courtroom ready to go to the penitentiary for her daughter's sake.

"How many men who are real men would have done anything else than Lieut. Massie did.

"I ask you gentlemen to take these poor suffering people kindly into your care, and to do unto them as you would wish to be done unto you in a similar case."

REVIEWS ATTACK

Darrow launched into a review of the events that occurred on the night Mrs. Massie was attacked. He said:

"This young woman was dragged into a car, her jaw broken by ruffians and then taken into some bushes and attacked.

"Can you imagine any greater calamity befalling that family?

"No one has placed a finger on a single fact to contradict this young wife's story.

"For eight months her assailants have been trying to fasten the guilt on someone else and save themselves."

Resuming his address after a recess, Darrow said:

"Let me say to you if these defendants should be sent to prison it would place a blot upon these fair islands which all the Pacific Sea could not wash away."

'LIED LIKE GENTLEMAN'

Kelley declared Darrow's defense talk was "based on sympathy, not insanity." He said:

"Why did Lieut. Massie take the blame for this crime? Because he could not hide behind the skirt of his mother-in-law.

"The best you can say for Massie is that he lied like a gentleman."

BONUS FOE ASKS CURB ON BANKS

WASHINGTON, April 28 (INS.)—Centralization of control of banks in the hands of the federal government was recommended today by Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

Speaking in opposition to granting immediate payment of the World War veterans' bonus Meyer told the House Ways and Means Committee that differing state laws made it difficult to keep banking stable. He said:

"I favor states rights as far as they may be maintained. Changing conditions make it necessary, however, for the federal government to extend its jurisdiction in many fields. It would be a ridiculous system, for instance, to have the 48 states divide control of the mail."

Meyer admitted that bankers are not very keen about his plan although the Federal Reserve Board is unanimous in supporting it. Bankers prefer being able to play state control against national control, he said.

BRITAIN SEEKS BIGGER NAVY

By WYTHE WILLIAMS
Universal Service Special

GENEVA, April 28.—Great Britain is considering invoking the so-called "escalator clause" of the London naval treaty, permitting her to build up the British navy beyond the tonnage limits imposed by the accord.

This was revealed today by the highest British authority, who forbade mention of his name.

He declared that unless the world situation becomes better Britain will formally ask Washington and Tokio for permission to apply the escalator clause. This would give the United States and Japan at the same time the privilege of increasing their naval strength.

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 28 (AP).—Henry L. Stimson, American Secretary of State, decided today to postpone his departure from Geneva until Saturday, or later.

Mr. Stimson conferred with Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain, and Dr. Heinrich Bruening, Chancellor of Germany, and later lunched with the American delegation to the world disarmament conference.

Daughter of Senator Weds in S. Carolina

FLORENCE, S. C., April 28.—(AP.)—Miss Anna Brunson Smith, daughter of United States Senator and Mrs. Ed Smith, of Lynchburg, S. C., was married in the First Presbyterian Church here last night to Carlton Hutchins Pierce, of Columbia, formerly of Hinsdale, Mass.

After the ceremony Senator and Mrs. Smith gave a reception in their home at Lynchburg.

Veteran Tammany Congressman Ill

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP.)—Representative John J. Boylan, of New York, today was reported reacting favorably to hospital treatment after a sudden attack of illness in the House. The veteran member of the Tammany delegation was taken to Garfield Hospital late yesterday.

Representative Sirovich, a New York colleague, who is a physician, brought word that Boylan would remain in the hospital over night for treatment and a further diagnosis of his case.

ECONOMY BILL STRIKES SNAG

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The national economy program drafted by a Democratic-controlled committee after conferences with President Hoover faced new assaults in the House today.

With 25 per cent of the proposed $200,000,000 savings knocked out of the bill on the first vote on reduction of salaries of government workers, further drastic changes were inevitable.

Appeals were made to Republicans to back the demand of President Hoover for a reduction in the expenses of government.

The tide of rebellion ran strong, however, with the House determined to steer its own course.

After defeating a proposed "gag rule" drawn to insure passage of the bill, the House rejected the committee's plan of cutting federal salaries to effect a saving of $87,000,000, and adopted a salary reduction plan estimated to save but $12,000,000.

The reduction amendment, proposed by Representative Britten (Rep.), of Illinois, provides for a 11 per cent cut after a $2,500 exemption. The committee proposed an exemption of $1,000.

The House is to vote today on the proposed abolition of Saturday half-holidays of government employes. The saving is estimated at $9,000,000 a year.

Representative McCormack (Dem.), of Massachusetts, led the fight against this recommendation of the economy committee. Demands were made for a five-day week instead of lengthening the hours of workers.

Scranton Firemen Fight $200,000 Blaze

SCRANTON, April 28.—(AP.)—Practically every piece of fire-fighting apparatus in the city was called out early today when a fire in a large three-story brick building on North Main avenue, West Scranton, threatened to spread to the adjoining plant of the Woodlawn Farm Dairy. Firemen estimated the loss at more than $200,000. The building in which the fire was discovered houses the Imperial Underwear Company, which employs 200 persons; the Parodi Cigar Company and a branch of the Scranton postoffice.

$2 COAL IMPORT TAX RESTORED

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(INS.)—An import tax of $2 a ton on coal was written into the tax bill today by the Senate finance committee. The proposed $2 ton tax on coke was eliminated. Both these taxes were included in the House bill.

A decision on the proposed import tax of one cent a gallon on gasoline, fuel and crude oil was postponed until tomorrow. The committee also decided to put off until tomorrow the proposed taxes on wort, malt and grape concentrate.

After exempting tooth paste, mouth washes and soap, the committee adopted the 10 per cent excise tax on all cosmetics. The exemption of the three articles reduces the estimated revenue from cosmetics $8,000,000.

Helen Keller Sails For Glasgow Degree

NEW YORK, April 28.—(AP.)—Helen Keller, who has been blind and deaf since infancy, sailed on the liner President Roosevelt yesterday to receive the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the University of Glasgow on June 15. She said she was looking forward eagerly to touring through the English countryside, which she enjoys by the sense of smell.

Girl Accused of New Shoplifting Scheme

Accused of working a new scheme in the alleged theft of merchandise, Alice Smith, 21, of 469 Grace street, Mt. Washington, was held for investigation today by Magistrate T. D. Jones in Morals Court.

Store detectives testified Miss Smith, who was arrested yesterday, would pose as a charge customer ordering articles delivered, and would steal articles of the same kind while the clerk's attention was diverted.

REFUSES MORE SUBWAY PLAN DETAILS

Snodgrass Declines to Amplify Proposal, Saying Transit Group Is Opposed

Edward Snodgrass, Jr., has refused to submit further plans on the proposed Grant street subway to the Transit Commission, on the ground that the commission already has voiced its disapproval of the project.

He stated his position in a letter to George S. Davison, chairman of the Transit Commission. It was an answer to a request from Davison final and complete details of the proposal of Snodgrass and Norman F. Brown.

Davison said the commission could get nowhere with the Brown-Snodgrass plan until it was completed. He asked that the plans submitted be certified as final, and that a statement be included as to what tracks the various lines of the Pittsburgh Railways Company will use in the subway.

Snodgrass replied that the Transit Commission has already disapproved the project and for that reason it was unnecessary for him to furnish additional plans.

He reserved the right to make any changes in the plan that would produce the best results, and suggested he could not tell the operating engineers of the Railways Company how to run their cars.

A special committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce is to be given a hearing on the subway before Council tomorrow.

BOY, 3, TAKES NIGHT OUT

CHICAGO, April 28.—(AP)—Why not, said 3-year-old Billy Wietor, Jr., to himself, take a night out.

So he did.

Earlier in the night Billy's parents tiptoed out of their apartment to a movie. Billy was asleep.

When they returned the front door was open. The shades were up and all the lights were burning. Billy's crib was empty. Drawers throughout the house apparently had been ransacked.

"Kidnapers," screamed Mrs. Wietor, and fainted.

Detectives arrived. They agreed with Mr. Wietor that it was a plain case of kidnaping. They telephoned for their captain. Squads of other police came.

An organized kidnap hunt was about to begin when a neighbor woman walked in with Billy.

MARLENE FACES STUDIO SUIT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 28.—(AP)—Officials of the Paramount studios said today they would file soon a damage suit for $100,000 against its leading director and actress, Josef Von Sternberg and Marlene Dietrich.

Both Von Sternberg and Miss Dietrich are under suspension by the studio for failure to produce a story provided them by the officials. The suspension also stopped salaries of the German actress and the director who "discovered" her.

Warner Brothers-First National Studios continued its suspension of James Cagney, recalcitrant star. Cagney had demanded a $2,400 weekly increase in salary, despite the fact he was signed at $1,600 a week on a long term contract.

Improvement Home Death Rate Lowest

The lowest mortality rate in its history was reported today by the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor, now celebrating its fifty-sixth anniversary. The association cares for an average of 1,500 men nightly, according to H. W. Shepard, secretary. In the present depression period deaths at the association have been those of men whose condition was diagnosed as hopeless at the time of their admission to the institution.

M'GOVERN LAYS COUNTY PAYROLL CUT TO ECONOMY

ployes from dismissal. None of those fired, according to records of the County Personnel Bureau, have had as much as 15 years' service with the county; military service record or, in the case of women, none are principal wage earners.

Brief letters of dismissal were being sent out to those dropped from the rolls from the County Commissioners' office today. The notification reads:

"On account of reorganization of county offices and change in personnel, at a meeting of the Board of Commissioners held today, I was directed to advise you that you have been removed from your position with Allegheny County, effective as of April 30."

The letter was signed by the chief clerk.

SPRIGLE DROPS 32

In the Department of Property and Supplies, 32 employes were dropped. Ray Sprigle, director, in a letter to the Commissioners appended to the list, pointed out that all but two must be replaced. As to their personnel records, Director Sprigle wrote:

"I have had acheck made with the division of personnel and this division informs me that there are no ex-service men on this list, nor any employes who have had at least 15 years' service with the county, nor any women without man's aid or other income."

Two lists were submitted by Director S. J. Chester of the Department of Highways. One is made up entirely of timekeepers. There are 21 and a note appended to the list says that no replacements will be made. Foremen on county road jobs will be required to keep the time records hereafter. The saving in salaries of these employes amounts to $37,800 a year.

A second list submitted by Director Chester contains the names of 26 employes, mostly labor help, truck drivers and clerks. There is no provision that these employes will not be replaced.

TWO JOBS ABOLISHED

In the Deed Registry Department, Ralph A. McGiffin, a clerk, was dropped. He will not be replaced. George Wilson Snodgrass, assistant investigator in the Division of Claims and Investigations, was dropped. He will not be replaced, either.

Thirteen names were stricken from the rolls of the Board for Assessment and Revision of Taxes. Nine of those dropped must be replaced, according to Director George Meyers.

The Airport Department, undermanned for commercial operations at the present time, according to Director Halsey R. Bazley, was not required to submit a list. Instead, three employes were added for night duty at the airport, which will be opened for commercial flying some time early next month, according to Bazley.

In the Bureau of Parks, 16 employes were dropped. Two men, a greenskeeper and a forester, were saved by Director Paul Riis, who argued before the Commissioners that these men were necessary for his work. Of the 16 let out, Director Riis revealed that several must be replaced, but did not go into detail.

VICKERMAN 'TOO BUSY'

Only one department was not represented at the Commissioners' meeting—the Department of Elections. Director John W. Vickerman, asked how many heads would be lopped off in his department, declared he was "too busy with the election" to give it any thought. He said:

"We are up to our necks in work with this election now and every employe we have now will continue in the county employ for at least a month. We couldn't drop anybody at this time."

Director J. P. Fife, of the Law Department, said nobody would be dropped from his department.

HOOVER SAFE IN CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—Hardly noticed in the flurry attending developments in the Democratic race for the presidential nomination, President Hoover's list of delegates today had passed the number required for his renomination.

As certain as all that had been his selection as the choice of the Republican National Convention six weeks hence, Kentucky's 25 votes did the trick when they were added yesterday to his previous pledged and claimed total of 375, which was just three less than required to nominate.

Meanwhile out in Omaha, Neb., the National Farmer-Labor convention nominated Frank Elbridge Webb of San Francisco, as its presidential candidate, picking Jacob S. Coxey, the Mayor of Massillon, O., as his running mate.

Boy School-Haters Wreck Classroom

PARSONS, W. Va., April 28.—(AP)—Sally Jones, John Dilsworth and Leonard Dilsworth didn't like the idea of school. So they set out to destroy Mt. Hope No. 10 School, completely wrecking the interior.

The three youths were arrested yesterday and confessed to officers, the latter say, that they had committed the wrecking. Blinds were torn down, books were torn up, papers in the teachers' desks were burned, furniture was smashed and other damage was done.

N. Y. May Day Fear Brings Guard Order

NEW YORK, April 28.—(INS.)—Fearing May Day outbreaks by Communists or unemployed, Police Commissioner Mulrooney ordered all policemen to remain on duty over the coming week-end and detailed special guards to protect the homes of prominent persons and public buildings.

BOY ASKS HELP TO FIND DOG

"Junior" Fife, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Fife, of 706 Maryland avenue, today asked the Globe Trotter to help him find his dog, "Skippy," a little brindle bull pup with white paws and a white forehead.

"Junior" said he has missed his dog very much since it disappeared last Thursday and his parents have made every effort to find it. Yesterday they visited the city dog pond in the hope the Animal Rescue League might have found it wandering in the street, but again their effort was futile.

"Junior" desires any boy who sees "Skippy" to let him know at once.

SLAYER OF GIRL GETS 10 YEARS

Paul Muschick alias Paul Miller, 38, of 401 East Ohio street, Robinson street today began serving a term of 10 to 20 years in Western Penitentiary for second degree murder.

Miller, the father of five children, pleaded guilty to shooting his sister, Edna Muschick, who lived in an apartment at 401 East Ohio street, Robinson street, February 6.

He told his story to Visiting Judge O. C. Kerr of Crawford County, who fixed the degree and pronounced the sentence. He said he and Edna had gone to a show in Castle Shannon, where she talked most of the evening to a man he did not know was her uncle. He became jealous and when they returned home he shot her, he admitted.

SALARY DISPUTE HEARD IN COURT

Judge Thomas M. Marshall in Common Pleas Court heard arguments yesterday in the mandamus proceedings of Register of Wills Joseph N. MacKrell to compel Controller Robert G. Wooddside to pay John Garsuch his salary.

Judge Thomas F. Trimble of Orphans Court has requested his salary be withheld, contending the Register lacks authority to make appointments unless approved by the court.

Judge Marshall expressed the belief that the Register need not obtain approval of the court in view of Supreme Court ruling. Briefs were submitted and a decision will be given later.

CARSON STREET JOB APPROVED

Expenditure of more than $150,000 in street widening projects has been approved by the Finance Committee of City Council.

West Carson street is to be widened from Collins street to McKees Rocks at a total cost of $575,000. The state is aiding in the work.

Chartiers avenue will be opened from Middletown road to the Bellhurst Gardens plan, and widened from Bucyrus to Collins streets at a total cost of $160,000.

An ordinance providing funds for completion of sewer projects started under the Allegheny County Emergency Association was also affirmed.

London Judge Gives Holdup Men Lashes

LONDON, April 28.—(AP.)—Two holdup men arraigned in Old Bailey yesterday drew prison sentences of nine to 18 months and an additional 18 lashes. "Holdups are becoming altogether too common in England," said the Judge. "We cannot tolerate such importations."

Noted Fliers to Be Anniversary Guests

The fifth anniversary of the establishment of air mail service and the organization of the Pennsylvania Air Lines will be celebrated tomorrow at a luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce, at which prominent aviation officials will be guests of honor.

Speakers will include Major James H. Doolittle, speed flier; Capt. Leslie Arnold, world flier; Eddie Smith and Com. Thomas Thomason, former squadron leader of the United States Navy Sea Hawks at Pensacola, Fla. President Thomas A. Dolan of the Chamber of Commerce will introduce the chairman of the meeting.

2 Jailed for Passing Counterfeit Bills

Henry J. Appel was sentenced to four months in jail and Russell Campbell to six months when they pleaded guilty before Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker of passing counterfeit $5 notes. They were arrested March 7 when it was charged they gave one to a taxicab driver.

They were said to have obtained the spurious notes from Meir Rudolph of East Ohio street, recently sentenced in Federal court to three years in the Atlanta Penitentiary on a counterfeit charge.

Men Should Treat Wives as Equal Partners

"Sure I love you," says the husband. "But what's that got to do with me giving you money to waste on clothes or movies?"

So Judy passes up bids to step out with the other young wives she knows, because she hasn't a penny to her name and she's ashamed to let them pay her way.

"I just can't understand it," she moans. "I am sure it isn't my fault he's so stingy. I do everything on earth to try to please him and keep him in a good humor and I know he has money. He buys plenty of things for himself. What shall I do?"

What'd you do with a gentleman like that?

"Dear Sally:

"I have been wanting to write you for a long time and now I have finally got up my courage so here goes.

"If you had a husband who never gave you a cent of money to spend for yourself what would you do?

"I have only been married for a little while and honestly I simply hate the idea of being broke all the time. Sometimes I go downtown to pay some bills and every time I do it I wish that I had some money to get a soda or take in a movie or buy some little thing I want or need.

"He buys his tobacco and cigars or anything else he thinks he needs but he never gives a thought to whether his wife wants or needs anything. And I hate to ask him for money. He hates me to spend any, too, even if it isn't his.

DECLINES INVITATIONS

"I bought a pair of earrings with some money my dad gave me and he just looked at me and said 'Can't get along without your earrings can you?' And he is the same about clothing. I am ashamed to go out. Some of the girls I know will ask me to go downtown in the afternoon and I can't go because I have no money and I won't let them pay for a show, or admit to them that I have no money. So I just say I am 'busy' and can't go or make some other excuse.

"I just can't understand him. Before we were married he gave me gifts galore. Now he never thinks of me even at Christmas or birthdays. And I work hard keeping things nice, too. I try to do everything on earth to please him.

"What under the sun is the matter with him? What makes him so tight? He has money, I know. Where it goes is a mystery to me.

"He says that he loves me, but if he really did, wouldn't he at least give me a little money for myself? Since I have been married I haven't enjoyed even a movie, let alone anything else.

"What would you do if you were in my place? And what ails him?"

JUDY

HER OWN FAULT

What ails him? You probably ail him, sister. My guess is that he brought you gifts before you married him because you were lively and desirable, and not too easily won, and he was afraid if he didn't please you he'd lose you.

When you married him and turned into a self-effacing little doormat, just as anxious to please him at any price as he had been to please you, you were timid about standing up for your rights, and everything he said went.

So why should he consider a lady he had under his thumb, whether he pleased her or not? Why should he put himself out when there was apparently no need to?

Oh yes, he probably does love you—in his way. But plainly he loves himself more and it's up to you to give him a few jolts.

How? By making it plain to him that he isn't the whole show and making him understand.

That when you keep his home and are a wife to him, you are giving just as much to your marriage as he is, and he'll have to treat you as an equal partner if he expects to keep you—

That you have a right to a few decent clothes and a little amusement just as he has, and if he won't recognize your right and act regular, you'll walk out on him until he's willing to treat you as well as he would expect to be treated.

Dress Well, Girls, But Don't Overdo It, Fay King Wisely Warns

IT IS NICE TO SEE BUSINESS GIRLS LOOKING AS PRETTY AS THEY CAN, BUT IT SHOULD ALWAYS BE INEXPENSIVELY
ONE SHOULD ONLY WEAR COSTLY JEWELRY AND FURS AMONG THOSE WHO ALSO HAVE THEM
FAY KING

By FAY KING.

In this day, when such pretty and becoming clothes and milliners can be bought so cheaply, every girl can look attractive and pretty at small expense.

So that in every office one sees girls looking tasty and smart, and in the factory the girls look pretty in bright colored smocks and little caps that keep the lint and dust from their hair.

But no girl who goes to business should ever wear diamonds and furs of great cost which make her appear superior to her place and those around her.

Nor should she speak of her rich friends or relatives, and her exclusive social engagements.

When you are working, you are working, and you should be one among other workers, and not a disturber by envy.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Invitations

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have just moved here where there are a number of wives whose husbands work for my husband. I invited them all over one evening informally not very long ago. Since that time I have not heard a word from any one of them. Am I correct in assuming that I have done the right thing? And am I correct in feeling that it is now their turn to call on me, or invite us to their homes?

READER

You have done your part and most graciously you have made the first gesture. It was very hospitable of you and thoroughly correct, to invite these women to your home.

Dinner Napkins

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I received a table cloth with dinner size napkins from Ireland and on them there is a small machine hem. Would it be appropriate to have these hem-stitched?

H

Hemstitching will give an appearance of informality to this table-set. It would be much more beautiful to cut off the small machine-made hem and substitute for this the French-hem with the hem on the table cloth three-eighths of an inch to one-half an inch wide. The napkins should be French-hemmed also, with hems of from one-eighth of an inch to one-quarter of an inch wide.

How to Keep Well -:- -:-

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Care of Children's Health Urged as a Patriotic Duty

For ages May Day has been set aside for youth. The Maypole, the Queen of the May and this festival of childhood have come down to us from pagan times.

Dr. Copeland

Moderns have seized upon the day as an appropriate date to teach the children for betterment of their health, and this movement has made its appeal even to those in high places.

President Hoover issued a proclamation designating May 1 as Child Health Day, and urging all organizations interested in child welfare "to unite upon that day in the observance of such exercises as will awaken the people of the nation to the fundamental necessity of unremitting effort for the protection and development of the health of the nation's children."

What a nation is depends on the physical and mental health of its citizens. There is no hope of adult health unless its foundations are laid in early life. In the absence of accident or epidemics, long life may be expected if in babyhood and early youth attention is given to the physical welfare.

It is indeed true that as the twig is bent the tree is inclined. While it is possible to overcome the ill health of youth and to outlive its devastating effects, this is not the rule. The child is father to the man, and unless the child's development is carefully watched there is almost certain to be weakness of body or mind in adult life.

The child is the cornerstone of the republic. Let us see to it that the child is guarded against those defects that undermine health. By so doing we are building for the future and will insure the continuing strength of our country. We lack in patriotism if we neglect the child.

On Child Health Day let us give thought to the little ones. On this day let every parent give the child a careful survey. If any doubt arises as to condition of skin, teeth, eyes, throat or general development, let the family doctor be consulted.

Let us call on those in legislative bodies to make ample appropriations for health activities. Make sure that water and milk supplies, control of food products and all other public agencies for health are under proper supervision and generously supported. Playgrounds, decent school buildings and clean streets are essential to the public welfare.

In short, let us make real use of Child Health Day. Let it be the beginning of new things in each community.

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted By Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

False-Carding

False-carding consists of playing cards out of normal order, usually with the intention of deceiving an opponent. For example, if a lead comes from your left through your Q-J-X, normal play is the cover with the J; false-carding consists of covering with the Q, to give the impression that the missing J is held by another player. If well conceived and timely, false-carding may prove very baffling, but it is senseless to false-card when nothing is to be gained.

The tendency to false-card often becomes an obsession being employed on every possible occasion. Once that habit has become fixed a player loses untold points because every shrewd opponent knows that straight play means that the addict cannot false-card. Suppose that you are the declarer with a false-carding fan at your right. The dummy holds A-J-10 and you require two tricks from that suit to go home. You lead a low card from your hand and finesse the 10, knowing that the player who sits back of dummy will be certain to false-card the K from K-Q-X. If the addict holds only the Q he will win the trick but you know that he lacks the K or he would play it on the first trick. Knowing that your subsequent finesse of the J will certainly win, obviates the necessity of attempting some other means of picking up the extra trick required for game. The player who ordinarily follows regulation play, but who sometimes false-cards, always leaves you in doubt concerning his holdings.

If the declarer wins the opening lead at no-trumps with the ace, everyone knows that he also holds the king. It is not customary to bid no-trumps with a lone ace in one suit, nor will a declarer win the first unless he can also win a later trick.

The Q may be led from A-Q-J or Q-J-10. If partner holds either the ace of K, a no-trump lead of the Q will cause partner to overplay with his ace or K. Suppose that the declarer wins with his ace over the Q that has been led. Every player at the table knows that he must also hold the K. But if the declarer wins the first trick with his K, nobody except the one who made the lead can tell that the declarer also has the ace.

An opening lead of the J at no-trumps may come from A-K-J, A-J-10, K-J-10 or J-10-9. Suppose that the declarer holds A-K-Q. If he wins with the ace he will at once expose the whole situation. The same will be true if he wins with the K. But if the Q wins the first trick, the opening leader's partner cannot tell that the opening lead may not have come from A-K-J. If a return lead goes through the declarer's A-K, he must put up his ace. It will then appear as if the opening lead of the J came from K-J-10, many a game has been made by proper play of solid honors, because return leads came where the declarer was strong, whereas some other lead through his hand might have defeated the contract.

If the 10 is led and covered third hand with the Q, nobody can tell that third hand may not hold the K, if the declarer wins with his Ace, although they all know that declarer holds the missing J.

False-carding with low cards never produces any effect on poor players, but often it proves puzzling to close observers of the cards that fall. Having no partner to deceive, the declarer may indulge more freely in clever false-carding than is safe for the side players to attempt.

MALONES WILL LEAD PARTY TO KENTUCKY

Noted Lawyer and Wife To Head Group Seeking Mine Quiz; Trip Delayed

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Dudley Field Malone, international attorney, and Mrs. Malone will lead the American Civil Libertics Union expedition that will investigate conditions in Kentucky coal fields. The delegation was to have left New York today, but its start was postponed last night when word was received from Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran that he would grant it a hearing in London, Ky., May 12.

It had been expected he would hold a hearing Friday on the unions application for an injunction restraining the authorities in Harlan and Bell counties from interfering with the unions investigators.

Malone will not take an active part in the investigation, for he plans to return to New York as soon as the legal fight for permission to enter the restricted territory is ended. He said:

"The legal rights in the situation, I think, are clear. But I plan, too, to appeal to the pride of Kentucky. I am going to call their attention to the fact that here, all these years, Kentucky has been famed as the home of beautiful women, famous horses and whisky. What is the state thinking of when it bars truth-seekers, intent on finding out for themselves whether its fame is justified."

The Civil Liberties Union, in a statement explaining the purposes of the trip, declared it was obvious the only cure for the troubles in Kentucky was "outside intervention."

Others in the union delegation will include Arthur Garfield Hays, Ernest Sutherland Bates, Joseph B. Matthews, Dorothy Kenyon, Evelyn Preston of Harrisburg, Pa.; Dr. Broadus Mitchell, of Johns Hopkins University; Grover C. Sales, of Louisville, Ky., and Dr. John R. Neal, of Knoxville, Tenn.

Husband Slashed, Sues for Divorce

BALTIMORE, April 28.—(AP.)—John Borland, industrial engineer, who was taken to a hospital this week suffering from knife wounds he said were inflicted by his wife, Madeline, has instituted divorce proceedings against her. Borland's suit alleged that "from time to time during the past four months" his wife "committed violent assaults" upon him. The Borland's were married in 1925. He was reported to be a member of a prominent New York family, and his wife a former chorus girl.

Monkeys Resent Lighted Matches In Cage

CHICAGO, April 28.—(AP.)—Manuel Lederman, a theological student, wished to learn whether monkeys would be disturbed if he tossed lighted matches into their cage.

They were.

So were all the other animals in the Lincoln Park Zoo, which Lederman visited yesterday for an experiment, he said, in applied psychology.

The monkeys screeched in vigorous protest, inciting an uproar among the other animals.

The police arrested Lederman, and Judge Justin F. McCarthy placed him under a bond to keep the peace.

Three Instructors At Tech to Retire

Retirement of three instructors from the faculty of Carnegie Institute of Technology at the end of the college year was announced today. They are William E. Mott, director of the college of engineering; George H. Follows, professor of commercial engineering, and Frederic P. Colette, professor of modern languages.

31 ADMIT GUILT IN RUM CASES

Thirty-one defendants in liquor cases pleaded guilty yesterday before Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker. Among them were several prior offenders, and some were given jail sentences. Others were fined or placed upon probation, in some instances both.

The heaviest penalty was imposed upon Peter A. Ritter, fined $500 and sentenced six months to jail for sale and possession of liquor at 13 South Diamond street, East. John Ciccarelli, for violations of the dry law at Rankin, and Thomas Casey for violations at McKees Rocks, were fined $200 and sentenced to two months in jail.

The Pennsylvania Sportsman Club was fined $200 for maintaining a common nuisance at 117 Water street, and Fred Keller, assistant secretary of the club, was placed upon probation for a year.

Lisping through an EMPTY tooth space

Don't do this 5 or 10 years from now. Start war on pyorrhea today

Don't get the idea that anyone is too young to think seriously about lost teeth. Youth does not own all the good teeth. The old are not necessarily toothless. But . . . sometimes it is the precautionary measures started very early in life that are the salvation of teeth.

Pyorrhea may start when you are young. (Pyorrhea is the actual cause of half the adult teeth which are lost.) Pyorrhea begins at the gum line and works downward toward the tooth sockets. Five or ten years may pass before you know you have it, but at middle age four out of every five people are victims of this insidious gum infection.

Don't lose your teeth. Take these two precautions: First, be sure not to forget the address of your dentist. Visit him twice a year. He is a real friend. Second, pick out a toothpaste that does more than polish your teeth. Forhan's Toothpaste is a thoroughly good cleanser—none better. But it takes care of the gums too, and that is mighty important, because you cannot have healthy teeth in unhealthy gums. Dr. R. J. Forhan worked 26 years as a pyorrhea specialist, and his exclusive formula cannot be obtained by the public except in Forhan's Toothpaste. Get ahead of pyorrhea. Prevention is the only way. Start today with Forhan's. All druggists

COAL MAN HITS KELLY BILL

WASHINGTON April 28.—(AP)—The Davis-Kelly coal bill designed to stabilize the bituminous industry was opposed before a Senate committee today by Charles O'Neill, of New York, vice president of Peale, Peacock & Kerr, Inc., producers of Central Pennsylvania coal.

As chairman of the government relations committee of the National Coal Association, he contended the bill "will not improve conditions in the industry, but rather will impede its progress towards stability."

O'Neill said "confusion" has prevailed in the coal industry only since the war. Senator Davis (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, replied that "poverty is stalking through the coal fields even in good times in the United States," and that wages in some cases have fallen from $7 to $2 a day.

10 PLANES BURN AT N. Y. PORT

ROOSEVELT FIELD, L. I., N. Y., April 28.—(AP)—Fire destroyed a hangar and 10 airplanes at this field today with a loss totaling $185,000.

The hangar, formerly known as the John Hay Whitney hangar and later designated as Hangar "A," was consumed by flames in less than an hour following an explosion of undetermined cause.

Carl Schneider, former German war pilot, was taken to a hospital at Mineola badly burned. He and John D. Eguirre, who also was burned but not so badly, were the only persons in the hangar at the time of the explosion. Both are mechanics. Schneider was working on the $50,000 amphibian plane owned by Whitney.

Russell Thaw, a pilot and son of Harry K. Thaw, rushed into the hangar when he saw the flames. He tried to save the nearest plane to the door, but was driven back by the blaze.

Man's Injury Blamed On Fall From Auto

Found lying in the street beside his automobile at Twenty-seventh and Smallman streets last night, Adam Brodlie, 52, of R. D. No. 4, Millvale, was in West Penn Hospital today with a probable fracture of the skull.

He was found by a police radio crew, who reported that the front door of his car was open. The officers believed he fell from the automobile, his head hitting the street.

Officer Kills Dog Periling Pedestrians

Snapping at pedestrians in Penn avenue between Beatty and Whitfield streets, a dog, believed mad, was killed by Mounted Patrolman Peter J. Walsh late yesterday. Walsh killed the dog with a blackjack, fearing bullets might endanger pedestrians. An examination was to be made at West Penn Hospital to determine if the dog was rabid.

Stroke of Apoplexy Kills Man in Store

H. W. Gunnoe, 45, district manager of the E. F. Hauserman Company, fell dead last night in a drug store at Liberty avenue and Smithfield street, according to a morgue report. Death was attributed to apoplexy. Gunnoe lived in Craig street.

PEAK REACHED IN FAMILY-HELP-FAMILY DRIVE

CITY TO SPEED SALE OF BONDS FOR WORKS

$3,000,000 for Direct Aid To Jobless to Be Held While Other Funds Last

The $2,000,000 city bond issue for employment authorized by the voters in the primary will probably be sold at once and the money used for public works to which Council stands committed, according to persons in close touch with the city administration.

The $3,000,000 bond issue approved for direct relief will be held up until all other avenues of revenue are exhausted, according to statements made by leaders in Council.

LANG AWAITS COUNCIL

Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, today said the bond issue for work is entirely a matter for Council. No improvements have been listed by the Department of Public Works, but Council has promised bond issue funds will be used in raising the North Side flood district and in constructing the Saline street sewer.

Controller James P. Kerr declared it is his understanding the bonds for direct relief are not to be sold until all other funds available for this purpose have been used.

At present, relief in the city is being administered from a fund of $501,730, made up of an emergency appropriation of $260,000 voted by Council and $241,730 received from the state under the Talbot bill. Of this, $267,725 had been spent up until yesterday.

SALES TAKE TIME

The preparing of a bond issue, including the necessary legislation and the engraving and sale of the bonds, requires eight weeks if carried through without interruption.

According to Controller Kerr, the city has no power to borrow in anticipation of a bond issue. The Mayor and Controller, under powers granted by the State Legislature last year, have the right to borrow only in the form of a short term loan up to 10 per cent of the city's estimated revenues.

With only 36 of the 405 precincts missing, the bond issues were approved by a majority of over 10,000 votes.

Dr. Voss to Address Graduating Nurses

The Rev. Dr. Carl August Voss will be the principal speaker tonight at the annual commencement exercises of the school of nurses of South Side Hospital in South Side Presbyterian Church. The class includes 15 nurses.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 28.

Say, I bet Al Smith threw a scare into some of these wise politicians that they won't forget for some distance. Whoever advised Roosevelt to enter that primary anyhow? Running against Smith in Massachuetts is like trying to win a debate with Sister Aimee on her own grounds.

Will Rogers

And Smedley Butler in Pennsylvania. He used fine judgment. He ran as a "dry" instead of as a Marine.

There is one thing you can bet on this year. No voter is going to do anything that a politician thinks he will. The way most people feel they would like to vote against all of 'em if it was possible. Yours, WILL.

JUDGE SARA M. SOFFEL

HOMES BLAMED IN DELINQUENCY

Declaring blame for juvenile delinquency rests in the home, Judge Sara Soffel, of Juvenile Court, indorsed the Parent Education Institute, which is in session today and tomorrow in the Hotel Schenley.

It is the opinion of the judge that parents should learn how to direct, train and guide their children into menial, physical and spiritual adjustment, and should remember that a child's character is molded in the first seven years.

Many leading national educators and 10 local specialists will speak at the sessions which are open to the public.

Home of Jobless Attracts Crowds Each Week

Clean-up, paint-up week is being observed at "Shantytown," Penn avenue and Seventeenth street, of which Father James R. Cox, who is co-operating in the Father Cox-Sun-Telegraph Home Delivery Drive, is the "mayor."

Father Cox

Hundreds visit "Shantytown" each week, some to inspect the buildings which house the jobless, others to watch the ever-lengthening bread line of destitute men—sometimes as high as 3,000—or distribution of baskets to needy families, who are fed by the energetic priest from voluntary contributions.

As a means of aiding Father Cox, the Sun-Telegraph has instituted its campaign for home delivery subscriptions. He will receive the regular commission on all subscriptions of this character.

If you wish to help Father Cox send in your order to have the Sun-Telegraph delivered by carrier to your home. You will find a subscription blank on the next page. You may mail it direct to Father Cox if you wish.

If you are already taking the Sun-Telegraph and would like to help Father Cox, cut out the order blank and get a neighbor, friend or relative to sign it.

Carrick Man Beaten And Robbed of $180

Two masked men slugged George Roth, 64, of 1921 Brownsville road, and robbed him of $180 early today, he reported to Carrick police.

Senators Want To Be Prepared For Next Crash

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

That terrific stock crash of 1929 has just landed in the Senate on the first bounce.

The senators want to know what caused it so they can get ready for the next one.

Before telling the Senate all about it we will ask the senators three questions:

Where were you at the time? Did you hear the shots fired? Were the lights on or off?

Everybody knows what caused it. The margins started to ferment, filtered into the red ink, the plus signs lost their vitality and some careless workman threw a match into the paper profits. Origin mysterious, no insurance.

You know the rest, in the books you have read, how the subsidized optimists fired and fled, while the bears answered them bull for bull, until the bankruptcy courts were full. Longfellow.

RENEW PARLEY ON TROLLEY PAY CUT

Wage Committee Again In Session After Earlier Conference Is Deadlocked

Today's conference, the second in two days, between members of the wage committee of the Street Railways Employes Union and executives of the Pittsburgh Railways, failed to produce any agreement on the company's request that the men accept a 10 per cent wage cut. Another meeting is being held this afternoon in the hope that a satisfactory agreement may be reached.

P. J. Shea, of Detroit, represented the international union, who came to Pittsburgh to assist in mediating the wage question, attended the conference, he will address to 2,200 platform employes of the company at meetings tonight and tomorrow morning, as will also W. H. Gallagher, chairman, and P. J. McGrath, secretary of the local wage committee, regarding the status of the dispute. The day men will meet tonight in Moose Temple and the night men tomorrow morning at the same place.

The existing two-year wage scale expires at midnight Saturday. The men, it has been indicated, will continue to operate cars pending further developments on the question, in case the proposed cut is rejected. The wage committee and the executives of the company are said to have agreed on all points except that of wages.

Allied Boards Hear Subway Plan Opposed

Pittsburgh's proposed subway plan "will not fit in to any ultimate and feasible plan of rapid transit," Allied Board of Trade members were told last night by J. D. White, engineer and head of a committee to present a resolution to City Council opposing the proposition.

The board also directed a telegram to Gov. Pinchot asking him to call a conference of civic, welfare and political workers to consider unemployment and relief.

For the first time in radio history here, court proceedings in a murder trial will be broadcast. And for the first time, the people as a whole, in their armchairs, may pronounce judgement, whether it be "guilty" or "not guilty."

DRAMA OVER RADIO

"The Trial of Vivienne Ware," a radio drama, is being presented in a series of broadcasts by the Sun-Telegraph station, WCAE, over a 10-day period. Saturday night at 9 o'clock will be the first, a half hour presentation. On Monday night from 8 to 8:30 the second stage of the trial will go on. It will follow Wednesday night at 8:30, Saturday night at 9 o'clock and the suceeding Monday and Wednesday nights at 8:30 o'clock.

Armchair listeners who follow the testimony, listening in not alone as spectators, but as members of the jury, have an opportunity to express their opinions. They may send their conclusions, and their verdict, to the Sun-Telegraph, explaining in less than 150 words their reasons.

The trial will be conducted as the regular court hearing. Reporters will "cover it," "exclusive features" will be written about the principals involved.

AUDIENCE IS JURY

But the guilt or innocence of the prisoner hangs in the balance of the listeners.

Damon Fenwicke, well known architect and wealthy and eligible bachelor, was found dead, a .38 caliber bullet, steel encased, in his heart. He was found slumped in a chair in the library of his home. A servant found the body and called police.

There was no sign of a struggle, and a wallet with $85 in currency remained untouched in his pocket, scouting robbery as a motive. A lace handkerchief was found. Delicately perfumed, it bore the initials "V. W." The friendship of Fenwicke and Vivienne Ware was known, even to newspaper readers who follow society news. They had been frequent guests at each other's homes. They were of the same social strata, this architect and the beautiful daughter of Simon Ware, railroad and mining millionaire.

Since the murder was discovered, Miss Ware has been held by police. The best of attorneys have been unable to pry her from their hands. She is charged with murdering her friend, Damon Fenwicke, for which the penalty is death.

The first presentation is Saturday night at 9 o'clock. And the station is WCAE.

Wife States 58 Reasons In Suit for Divorce

Her husband bought a hunter's license and went hunting when her child needed shoes, Mrs. Mary M. Lynn, of 201 Arlington avenue, East McKeesport, alleges in a bill of particulars filed in her divorce action against Ewing K. Lynn.

Mrs. Lynn gives 58 reasons for desiring a divorce. She alleges her husband broke her glasses, damaged her front teeth and otherwise ill-treated her; that when he was giving her $70 a month for necessities out of his salary of $330, he cursed her when she asked for more, and that she signed a note for $1,487, which she supposed was to pay household expenses and doctor bills, but which was not used for that.

Her counsel, William L. Jacobs, filed a bill asking alimony, the present salary of Lynn, it was set forth, being $242 a month.

ASKS CITY HALT WATER WASTE

Robert J. Aldeidice, budget controller, has warned against the willful waste of water which he says is taking place in the City-County Building. In a letter to William Abercrombie, superintendent of the building, he declares hundreds of gallons of water are being wasted through lack of a few minor repairs to plumbing fixtures.

Aldeidice declared he had spoken about the waste some time ago but nothing was done about it. Recently James Kennoh, managing engineer of the Bureau of Water, issued a stringent order against waste of water by citizens, the edict applying to all parts of the city.

MONKEY 'SIGNS' PITT LETTERS

Jimmie, the little bit of a monkey whose cage is in the office of Dr. S. H. Williams, zoology professor at Pitt, didn't learn to use a mean pencil for nothing, it seems. Yesterday afternoon Dr. Williams caught up on a week's correspondence and left the letters on his desk to sign and mail this morning. Last night Jimmie escaped from his cage, found a pencil and put his mark—a whole lot of marks in fact—on the letters.

Jimmie

As a secretary, he's not so good, though. All the signatures Jimmie wrote were in the wrong places.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The cause is your liver and not looking in your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a dark, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel up and up. They contain wholesome, harmless, purely vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Refuse substitutes. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

THE LITTLE GIRL WHO FOUND HER APPETITE

YESTERDAY at both breakfast and lunch, she only toyed with her food—so no wonder Mother was just a little concerned. But today, it's another story. Mother has found just the treat to tempt a young appetite. It's a big bowl of Kellogg's Rice Krispies and milk. And just see her dip right in with her spoon and enjoy every mouthful of that good, nourishing cereal.

It gives you a lot of satisfaction, doesn't it, to see your children enjoying their food? Well, just give them Kellogg's Rice Krispies. This different cereal fascinates youngsters. Crisp, delicious rice bubbles that actually snap, crackle and pop in milk or cream!

And Rice Krispies are one of the best of cereals for children. So tempting, nourishing, and easy to digest. Splendid for the evening meal—they do not overtax like many heavy foods, and so they encourage restful sleep.

You'll enjoy Rice Krispies for your own lunch—perhaps with fruits or honey added. Great for brightening breakfast.

Kellogg's Rice Krispies are made with scrupulous care. Spotless ovens. Gleaming machinery. Sunlit kitchens. No hands ever touch this cereal. And Rice Krispies are sealed in a protective WAXTITE bag which is placed inside the red-and-green package, and keeps every morsel oven-fresh. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Quality guaranteed.

FOR THE CHILDREN: Tune in Kellogg's SINGING LADY every afternoon except Saturdays and Sundays at 5:30 Eastern Time, over WJZ, WLW, WBAL, KDKA, WBZ, WBZA, WCAE, WJR. At 5:15 Central Time, KOIL, WREN, KWK; at 6:00, WGN. Songs and stories children love.

DRY MEN SEIZE SLOT MACHINES

Four slot machines were seized by prohibition agents in them in the seizure of such devices, when they raided a club in Second street, Rankin, yesterday. The agents took the machines themselves instead of keeping them under surveillance for county detectives, as had been their custom.

A federal internal revenue statute permitting seizure of all articles used in the sale or manufacture of intoxicants when a revenue tax has not been paid authorizes them to to take the machines, according to the agents.

The raiders reported confiscating 17 pints of whisky, seven gallons of gin and 18 quarts of beer, stripping the barroom of its furnishings. John Morrisey was arrested.

MODERN ART EXHIBIT OPENS AT TECH

Idealistic Revival Indicated by Paintings

By PENELOPE REDD

The Carnegie Institute presents an exhibition of modern American paintings today which will continue on view through May 30.

Miss Redd

Exhibitions in Pittsburgh, where there is little of the competitive aspect of art, seem defenseless, and, too frequently, friendless. In these days, when the desire of the crowd for action dominates recreation as well as other affairs, contemporary paintings are about as valueless as Imperial Russian bonds. So here we find 65 paintings representing one of the few remaining activities of men that is not related to our high speed program of expediency.

CURRENT INFLUENCE

Even these are touched by the uncertainty of the times, although it is not the fulfillment of a demand but the artist's imperative enthusiasm that hes thrust ideas into pictorial expression.

No one cares very much whether artists paint or not. However, there is comfort for those who seek prophetic trends in painting. We refer to the inclusion of Louis Eilshemius, whose two pictures, "Landscape" and "The Lovers' Tryst," are clues to the lost trail back to the poetic and the idealistic.

True, it is that McFee, Speicher and Glackens have maintained contact with the emotional quality in painting, but knowledge has blurred the intensity as it has not done with the less tutored Eilshemius. Looking about this exhibition one discovers Brook as a possible inheritor of this vital quality, and, perhaps, Soyer.

LONELY, SECRET ONE

John Carroll, strongly individualistic, has gone the lonely way of the secret ones, whose novel ideas inevitably attract those who are uncertain of aesthetic values.

Reginald Marsh, vociferous but healthy in his motion-mad studies of merry-go-rounds, shouts in the vernacular of the moment's bluntness. Edward Hopper, also concerned with the native subject, has the ampler quality of serenity in color and composition. Grant Wood's crassly meticulous Americana points a trend in the season's painting that one regards with alarm. There is too much Chic Sales.

'CLASSIC LANDSCAPE'

Sheeler's cement mill, which he frankly labels "Classic Landscape," is formidably conscious of contemporary utilitarian monsters. Burchfield, in "Christmas Tree Market," probably in Buffalo, converts the parochial into the dignity of the universal through his positive implication that the romantic is latent in the commonplace.

The experience of the exhibition was not the highly competent professionals, but Eilshemius, who, like the blue bird of the allegory, was around these many years. His work evokes nostalgia for quietude and touches a responsive chord in one otherwise sceptical heart.

TROTH BROKEN BY PRINCESS

PARIS, April 28.—(AP.)—Princess Beatrice, the eldest daughter of former King Alfonso and Queen Victoria of Spain, is reported to have broken off definitely her engagement to her second cousin, Don Antonio Alvaro D'Orleans.

Reliable Spanish royalist sources here said that the Duke of Spoleto, cousin of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, was again seeking the hand of Alfonso's first daughter.

These same sources said the duke was now in Rome where the Princess Beatrice and her sister, the Princess Marie Christina, are visiting members of the Italian royal family.

The 21-year-old princess was reported to have ended her engagement with the young Alvaro because she considered it unwise to marry him now. He has two more years in the Zurich, Switzerland, engineering school ahead of him.

The princess, who often has been linked in court gossip with scions of various ruling houses in projected marriages, was first named as the intended bride of the Prince of Wales three years ago.

MANCHU REBELS ELUDE JAPS

MUKDEN, Manchuria, April 28.—(AP.)—Meager reports received here today indicated the three Japanese brigades which began a powerful drive against Chinese rebels in Northern and Eastern Manchuria yesterday were carrying out their movements as planned but had not yet encountered the rebel forces.

Because of the distances to be covered and the difficulties of transport once the railways are left behind, military officials expressed the opinion that it might be several days before the Japanese troops come to grips with any considerable force of the elusive rebels.

The situation at Tunghua was most serious. Latest advices were that the Japanese vice consul and a dozen members of the consulate staff were prisoners of the rebels.

Tunghua had occupied the city.

Rebel bands raided the Kirin-Tunhua Railway line near Chiaohio, destroyed a bridge, cut telegraph wires, and interrupted railway service.

Don't take anybody's word for it. Prove to yourself that it is now easy to remove yellow and stain as well as the causes of decay and clean teeth whiter 3 shades whiter in 3 days! Start using this new scientific technique. A half inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, twice a day. You'll see a marked change overnight.

When Kolynos enters the mouth it instantly becomes a refreshing FOAM. This FOAM does the work. First it removes yellow and stain and destroys the millions of mouth germs (90 million in 15 seconds) that cause most tooth and gum troubles. It stimulates the gums and purifies the mouth. Then it CLEANS TEETH RIGHT DOWN TO THE BEAUTIFUL NATURAL WHITE ENAMEL WITHOUT INJURY. No ordinary brushing can make teeth so white. No mouthwash can give the mouth a cleaner taste.

Why have dull, yellow teeth? Clean them sparkling white and keep them sound and free from decay this way. Start using the Kolynos Dry Brush Technique. Results overnight. Buy a tube of Kolynos.

STANDARD OF THE WORLD

If you want Supreme motor car Satisfaction . . . you must buy a CADILLAC

Never in history could it be said with greater emphasis—"If you want supreme motor car satisfaction, you must buy a Cadillac." For there is simply no substitute at all for what these distinguished cars provide. Imagine the incomparable luxury of a car that is almost completely quiet—no transmission noise in any gear—no sound from the body—not even a whisper from the motor! Imagine a car that rides so smoothly—balances so perfectly—that, in it, you actually seem to soar along—with scarcely an indication that the car is in contact with the ground! And imagine a car so flexible in all its action—so instantly obedient to every control—that driving it on the longest journey is play of the most joyous sort! Never has there been anything like these new Cadillacs. No one, we believe, could know them without a great urge to their ownership. And there is absolute proof of this statement—for the great change to Cadillac is one of the most significant motor car trends in America today. In fact, of all the people who have purchased cars since the first of the year in the Cadillac-LaSalle price group—more than two out of every five have settled their choice upon Cadillac and La Salle! We urge you—for your own protection—to know these cars at first hand. Come in today for a demonstration.

Pittsburgh Women Play Prominent Roles in Events at Meeting Of National League

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Word of the prominent part Pittsburghers are having in the national convention of the League of American Pen Women comes from Washington, where the convention is closing today. More than 1,000 guests were present at the authors' breakfast on Saturday, cabinet members and ambassadors and their wives being included. Florence Fisher Parry, a member of the Pittsburgh branch, was at the speakers' table. Mrs. Galen C. Hartman, another Pittsburgher, entertained nine of her Washington friends at the breakfast.

At the poets' dinner on Sunday, Bella Flaccus Reymer read her most recent poem and Marianne Genet's compositions have been heard on every musical program. The Pittsburgh delegates, including the president, Miss Suzanne Beatty, were in attendance at the reception and tea which Mrs. Hoover gave on Tuesday afternoon.

Through her own unaided efforts she obtained official recognition of the nursing work done by Catholic sisters during the Civil War.

Although their number was small at the Highland Park tree planting yesterday, the Pittsburgh Daughters of the American Revolution made a stirring picture as they turned to salute the great flag flying from its reservoir hill height. The Daughters planted two elms in observance of the Washington Bicentennial, naming one for their regent, Mrs. Henry Clay McEldowney, and the other for Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh, who has served on the conservation committee for eight years.

Mrs. McEldowney presided yesterday. Mrs. Cooke Bausman, chairman of conservation, spoke of the service which the regent and Mrs. Marsh had given the chapter. The principal address, which was on Washington, was by Gen. John Ross Delafield, of the Reserve Officers' Association.

In the afternoon the board of the chapter entertained at tea in the Woman's City Club for the women who are here for the R. O. A. convention. Miss Yolande Marchand and Mrs. Marsh poured.

BLACK CHIFFON MAKES IDEAL DINNER DRESS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, April 28.—This season a black chiffon dinner dress will prove a sheer necessity. For chiffon is back again in its old place as one of the principal fabrics for both day and evening wear. And since we are to go in for going out in dinner clothes again this season, black chiffon surely is the ideal medium for clothes of this type. A lot of all-black is being shown and this in a season that we have been warned is to be all color. Of course there has been and is a tremendous amount of color being shown and worn, but there are always ever so many women demanding black frocks. And the colorful background has merely the effect of providing a foil for black and making the all-black frock more effective than ever. Which means that more women rush to their dressmakers and order frocks done in black materials. And so the demand for black is always alive and it is ridiculous to talk of it ever being eclipsed or abandoned in favor of color. Colors have their seasons of popularity and obscurity, but black goes on for ever. And black chiffon is far too kind a material, far too soft and effective ever to be discarded for long. A good black chiffon frock is absolutely necessary to anyone who dines out a great deal.

* * *

SHOWN IS ONE of the newest evening frocks by Augustabernard. It is done in very sheer black chiffon. Over a moulded bodice is worn a deep cape—bertha of black chiffon through which the arms and shoulders glisten in a charmingly effective way. The remainder of the dress is made over a dead black slip. The very wide skirt is drawn in loops and panels in regular intervals all around, an effective bouffant silhouette being thereby achieved. A narrow twisted rope of the chiffon makes the belt.

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

A Columnist, Who Can't Afford a Sec'y, Jots Down a Few More Notes to Himself, the Idiot

Dear P. Y. — I ordered that typewriter with the head rest attachment. Now you can give up your hotel suite entirely. Please phone Abe Lyman. He heard you got to bed before 6 yesterdawning and is worried there may be something wrong. Jimmy (Cyranose) Durante called from Cleveland again. Says he doesn't want it known that he is Garbo's sweetheart for fear he will lose his own "indemnity." I hear he sprained his wrist last wk. thumbing his nose at a producer. Ziegfeld wasn't in, but Alice said she'd have him call. Cab Calloway played a special Chinese tempo at the Cotton Club last night when Carl Van Vechten got up to dance with Anna May Wong. Why doesn't Miss Wong use powder on her face? Or am I asking you something you don't know? Connie Boswell called to say she is anxious to have you arrange it for her to meet Jimmy, the crippled newsie. I told her you would be happy to know it. Geo. Moran dropped in to say that he and Charlie Mack had kissed and made up and that they were reviving the old team of Moran and Mack on a 50-50 basis. Back in 1928 when the team was getting $7,000-a-week, Moran's share was less than $300. Benny Rubin complained about your bow-taking technique at the Palace Sat. midnight. He says you blinked when the spotlight was flashed on you, and that you didn't remain standing long enough. So he's sending over a famous Russian prof. who will coach you in bow-taking. Will you have the time or shall I take the lesson for you? The Gillette Birds of the Social Register (she was Mary Pell) are expecting to be hell'd any moment now.

Roxy and Borrah Minnevitch had a funny wager and Borrah lost. Roxy bet that Borrah's new baby would be a girl and it was. So the harmonikaing to pay his loss must spend a year in deepest Africa. Roxy phoned every sports store in NY and told them to have a sales-man call at the Minnewitch dressing room in the Hollywood Theater with samples of the things he'll need in the tropics. All week long there's been a steady stream of birds trying to interest him in quinine tablets, hunting rifles and collapsible tents. He even got a cable from a menagerie in Algiers offering him a train of jungle elephants at depression prices. And there's a wire from Fred Allen. He says that the dog who barked on that round-the-world radio hookup accomplished nothing and only frightened 9,000,000 cats.

Ferdinand Solinger's book, "Wills," is scheduled for publication next mo. He spent eight yrs. investigating the various aspects and shows that 99% of the current wills are illegal and can be easily broken. That should be good news to a lot of people. Dan Parker rushed in with the tip that Gene Tunney will run against Hiram Bingham of Conn. for the Senate. The Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars are supporting the X-Champ. Do you remember the night Rudy Vallee told you that both he and Gene would be in Congress before 1935? Well, Westport Mr. is getting ready for a 1933 Vallee boom. I'm taking that European map off the office wall. I know how that Spring air affects you. They've put meters on those Broadway orange-drink pumps. The idea is to keep the employes from quenching their thirst too often. I thought you'd like to know that Sylvia Sidney is at her best in "The Miracle Man." She is one screemie queen that hasn't lost her head since those days when she was coming up in "Bad Girl" on B'way. And poor Bobby Newman hasn't had a hit since that show. He's another lad who is bound to land one of these days. They're selling toy snakes over on 50th St. near the circus. Big why buy imitations when you can take a few steps over to B'way and see the real thing. . . With a few rats thrown in. Did you know that there will be no new skyscrapers erected in Manhattan for another two years?

Hilda Knight, the Scandoll and Rudy (Warners) Weiss are Eye-Gazing in the night spots . . . Charley Gordon, who raised over $600,000 and lost it in dramatic flops in N. Y., has hit again in Paris with a piece called "Hector" at the Apollo Theater . . . It's in six characters and one set, and therefore, a novelty to the Parisque audiences. . . . It was Charley who induced Joe (Royal Box) Zelli to produce "Papavert". . . Too bad about Agnes O'Laughlin, the X-Ziegy pretty who has suffered more undeserved bad luck than any girl on Ballyhoo Boulevard. The big producers all turned thumbs down on her after her name got into the Jack 'Legs' Diamond story. . . . Kiki Roberts fled the famous hotel shooting scene and went to Agnes' home to hide. The police found her there. And then Agnes was induced to sue Vallee for breachoprom. It was bad advice. So for months she has been jobless and in real need. Then the first offer of a chorus job came from Harriett Hoctor last Fri. But in her haste Agnes stumbled on the elevator and sprained her ankle. Well did you ever try dancing on a sprained ankle? Harry and Eileen want you as best man. I'm laughing when Mayor Walker ties them up for life next Sat. Please be there on time so that if there's any waiting to do it'll be for someone important.

Walter Chrysler Jr. called. Milt Gross wants you to come up to his office to see the funny pictures on the walls. May I go along with you? . . . In Hollywood you can dial 1-1-9-7 hang up and your own phone rings. That check didn't come. I called for it and the man said he didn't even know you. You know you embarrass me awfully at times. . . . Matt Moore, Lewis Milestone and Harry D'Arrast have taken combined bachelor digs in Hooeywood with a trio of valets—Your devoted pal, Paul Yawitz.

'Reluctant Dragon' Comes To Please Children In the Nixon

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Whether or not Pittsburgh is to have a Children's Play house is being decided by the performances that have been given and will continue at the Nixon Theater on various Saturday mornings. This Saturday there will be presented another of those amusing fairy tales, "The Reluctant Dragon," which seem to be the staple stock of such undertakings. This play was suggested by Kenneth Grahame's "Dream Days" one of the most popular books ever written for the young of all ages. Theodore Viehman is directing the production and he has that knowledge of stagecraft and folk dancing requisite for success.

Mr. Seibel

The cast will contain a number of people who have been connected with the George Sharp Stock Company and have also had experience on Broadway. For instance there is Joseph F. Woods, he has played with Fritz Leiber in Chicago Shakespearean seasons, he was in Eugene O'Neill's "Fountain" and played a season with George Sharp. He will have the role of Sir Bodelot.

Margery Lewine, a student at the Sorbonne, will be Alcyon and Richard Burrell, who will play the King, has been with Robert Mantell and Fritz Leiber and has also published some one-act plays. Henrietta Siskin, playing Marie, appeared with the Provincetown Players in many things. Mathilda Rodycombe, a graduate of Tech Drama School, recently appeared on Broadway in "The Noble Experiment." Dorothy Gillespie has been with the Cincinnati Art Theater and with Stuart Walker in repertoire. Ralph Shaw directed the University of Oklahoma Little Theater. Lee Daschbach appeared with Otis Skinner in "The Merchant of Venice." Many of the others have had experience and shown ability in all fields of dramatic work—so the organization rises far above the status of the talented amateurs generally available for enterprises of this sort.

The scenic possibilities of fairy fantasy have been fully realized by the productions we have already had—and in "The Reluctant Dragon" at the Nixon Saturday morning we may expect more of the delightful candy architecture and taffy horticulture that marked previous productions.

AT ALLEGHENY COLLEGE

Dramatic activities have become so much a part of the curriculum in institutions of higher learning that ordinarily they're hardly hot news. But next week an experiment is to be tried in the Allegheny College Student Play Shop at Meadville which deserves the attention of literary and dramatic students.

The Play Shop will revive George Colman's five-act comedy of manners "The Jealous Wife" one of the best known plays of the eighteenth century. While many other dramas of that period, especially some of Farquhar and Congreve, have been produced from time to time I recall no performance of this Colman play since the earliest days of the American theater. Critical historians and historical critics have insisted that Sheridan got the idea of his "School for Scandal" from this comedy of the elder Colman. No doubt he got the inspiration from Colman and other dramatists of the society plays then in vogue in which loose morals and graceful manners furnished the framework of complicated plots adorned with ultra-smart dialogue.

The Department of Speech at Allegheny College, conducted by Alice H. Spalding and John W. Hulbert, is attempting an ambitious task in its third major production this year. Evidently like Cardinal Richelieu, they think "there's no such word as fail."

DRAMA LEAGUE CONTESTS

Meanwhile the eighth amateur players contest of the Pittsburgh Drama League is drawing many people to the Irene Kaufmann Settlement Theater. Eight of the 16 plays have already been presented and tonight four more will be seen. The Crimson Masque of Grove City College, will present "Dregs," the Women's Club of Mt. Lebanon presents "When the Whirlwind Blows," the Studio Players of Bradford Woods present "The Night I Died," the Dracomira Players of Mt. Lebanon present "Confession." Special interest attaches to "The Night I Died" because Beatrice Lewis is a Pittsburgh girl a student of Pennsylvania College for Women.

Tomorrow night the Jamestown Players of Jamestown, N. Y. present "She Who Will Not When She May," the Gargoyle Club, of Shady Side Academy, presents "The Waning Moon," the Emerson Club, of Sacred Heart Church, presents "The End of the Dance," and the Junior Woman's Club, of Crafton, presents "What Never Dies."

Flyers Jump In Hearst News

THE GLOBE TROTTER

United States Army airmen are shown in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News in a series of thrilling parachute jumps over Chanute Field at Rantoul, Ill. It is showing in the Penn, Fulton and other theaters. Seven planes are seen in perfect alignment flying 2,500 feet high. At a signal the seven parachute jumpers make a simultaneous leap. Every one of them land safely. There is a description by the Globe Trotter.

Johnny Weissmuller, champion swimmer and motion picture actor, is shown doing some of his amazing under-water stunts in a glass tank on the stage of the Capitol Theater, New York. Johnny illustrates his famous crawl stroke. There also is an exhibition of fancy diving by girl champions.

Governors of 28 states are seen and heard as they gather in conference in Richmond, Va., to discuss affairs of the states which will be of mutual benefit. Gov. Pollard, of Virginia, delivers a speech of welcome. There is a bit of friendly repartee between Govs. Roosevelt, of New York, and Ritchie, of Maryland, both receptive presidential candidates.

Joanne Xenos, 7-year-old child prodigy of Illinois, who has just been made a teacher in the public schools of Chicago, tells her story and how she sprang it, two yrs. from the kindergarten to the high-1 grade. Joanne is now in charge of a class of 40 tiny pupils. She gives an exhibition of her knowledge of mathematics by solving a hard problem on the blackboard.

Dozens of gigantic army tanks are shown going through amazing stunts at Fort Meade, Maryland, in the first tank drill in 10 years. The tanks are shown plunging down steep hillsides at full speed, crashing through forests and demolishing buildings.

A comedy bull fight at Alicante, Spain, provides no end of amusement. A real and savage bull is used and charges the clowns who tease him.

Gay Lady!

Ina Claire is a gay and witty gold-digger in "The Greeks Had a Word for Them," picture coming tomorow to the Stanley.

Submarine Disaster As Film Theme

"The Devil and the Deep," a story of love and adventure woven into the background of a submarine disaster, has been announced by Paramount as a co-starring vehicle for Tallulah Bankhead and Gary Cooper. The picture will introduce to the screen Charles Laughton, London stage star, whose recent trip to New York for "Payment Deferred" brought him to the attention of film producers. Direction of the picture has been assigned to Marion Gering, who made "Ladies of the Big House."

Beaudine Will Direct Stuart Erwin

William Beaudine has been assigned by Paramount to direct Stuart Erwin in "Merton of the Talkies," film version of Harry Leon Wilson's popular novel of Hollywood which will have Frances Dee in a leading feminine role. Among Beaudine's recent pictures have been "Penrod and Sam," "Father's Son" and "Those Who Dance."

More Players Added To Marx Cast

Syd Saylor, specialist in comedy, Gwinn (Big Boy) Williams, former athlete and cow puncher from Texas; Vincent Barnett, stage and film actor, and Caryl Lincoln, former Wampas Baby Star, have been assigned to roles in "Horse Feathers," starring the Four Marx Brothers and featuring Thelma Todd.

Russian Film Remains In Avenue Cinema

"Road to Life," Russian film, is now being shown for a second week in the Avenue Cinema. The picture, Soviet-made, deals with the "wild boys" of Russia, and the government's attempt to reclaim them for useful citizenship.

Jackie Cooper In Film

Jackie Cooper, the 8-year-old film star, undertakes a type of role different from anything he had previously attempted, in "When a Feller Needs a Friend," new Cosmopolitan production soon to be seen here.

In this picture the screen's new juvenile sensation has the part of a crippled boy, with Chic Sale co-starred in the other leading role of the story. It is said to be more gripping than "Skippy," or "The Champ."

"When a Feller Needs a Friend" is an adaptation of William Johnston's novel, "Limpy," the continuity having been prepared by Sylvia Thalberg and Frank Butler. Harry Pollard, who directed "The Prodigal" and "Shipmates," directed the new picture, and Sale, noted comedian and character actor, has the part of Uncle Jonas. The cast also includes Ralph Graves, Dorothy Peterson, Helen Parrish and Andy Shuford.

The action of the picture takes place in a typical American small town, and a large number of juvenile extras of Jackie Cooper's age were engaged by the production staff to appear in various dramatic episodes of the story.

First attaining prominence as a featured actor in Hal Roach's "Our Gang" comedies, Jackie Cooper advanced in the space of a year to a top place among the real personalities of the picture world.

Myrna Loy Gets Role With Chevalier

Myrna Loy, recently seen in "Arrowsmith," Blanche Friderici, famed character actress; Ethel Griffies, who played character roles with George Arliss in "Old English" and "The Millionaire;" C. Aubrey Smith, veteran actor of the American and English stage and screen, and Robert Greig, well known stage and screen actor, have been assigned supporting roles in Maurice Chevalier's new starring picture, "Love Me Tonight," being directed by Rouben Mamoulian. The cast is headed by Jeanette MacDonald, Charlie Ruggles and Charles Butterworth.

-:- Plays and Players -:-

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Eric Cowley, who plays the leading male role in "Hay Fever," booked to open May 9 in the Alvin as the final play for the Professional Players, is an English actor of 15 years experience on the London stage. In fact the company, from Constance Collier down, is British with one exception, Julia Hoyt, the only American in the cast. Others are Anthony Kemble-Cooper, Betty Linley, Edward Cooper, Valerie Cossart and Alice Belmore Cliffe.

* * *

Besides Fay Templeton, who made Pittsburgh her home for many years, the roster of the Civic Light Opera Company, which will sing a series of Gilbert and Sullivan operas in the Nixon the week of May 16 includes another musical veteran in William Danforth. Howard Marsh, Hizi Koyke, Japanese prima donna, Frank Moulan, Vera Ross, Herbert Waterous, Ethel Clark and Allen Waterous are other members of the company.

* * *

Jazz is out, through, finished, according to Paul Whiteman, whose band will be featured on the Stanley stage beginning Friday. He predicts a vogue of a new type of music which he calls the symphonic syncopation, and which he believes will become a worthy American contribution to the music of the world. Exponents destined to herald its dawn are George Gershwin and Ferde Grofe, in his opinion.

* * *

Jimmy Savo, comic who will be a principal in the Penn stage show opening tomorrow, tossed pebbles into the air as a boy and the first thing he knew he was a juggler. At his first "amateur night" performance in New York he won a prize of $10, so he became a regular amateur-nighter. George White sometimes appeared in the same contests as an opponent. Jimmy has been in vaude, musicals and pictures.

* * *

The Cosmopolitan picture that co-features Chic Sale and Jackie Cooper will reach the screen with the title "When a Feller Needs a Friend." M-G-M has the names of Wallace Beery and Robert Montgomery on new long-term agreements . . . Ruth Chatterton's new one, "The Rich Are Always With Us," will have its first showing on any screen in Philly tomorrow. . . . Jack Pearl, comedian of the late "Follies," is flirting with the radio broadcast idea, and may do a vaude act if the air wave doesn't become permanent.

BITS OF LIFE

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

Fable of the Beans

AT THE AGE of 22, Frank Horton was a most disconsolate young man. On the surface, it would be difficult to find a reason. He had just completed his college career, and he was in the prime of health. His eyes were clear, his shoulders were broad—and his family had millions of dollars. And as for fame—well, there wasn't a housewife in the land who didn't know his family name. For he was one of THE Hortons.

Strange, then, that such a youth should be gazing gloomily from a Pullman window as the train roared on in the direction of the palatial Horton homestead. With the world at his feet, he was a most unhappy Horton. And it wasn't because of a pretty girlie with blue eyes, either. Would you like to hazard a guess as to his troubles? No use; you'd never be able to hit it. So I rush to the rescue. The trouble, my friends, was beans!

Yes, beans. Millions upon millions of canned beans. Beans that were large and beans that were small. Beans in the springtime and beans in the fall. Boiled beans, baked beans, yellow beans and has-beans; they all meant the same thing to Frank Horton.

The reason was extremely simple. The Horton family had been selling canned beans for more than a century. The name and the trademark had been used in practically every magazine and on almost every billboard the nation over. When you thought of beans you thought of Horton.

Although he admitted it to no one but himself, young Horton had been resenting the beans soup for a long time. In college he had immediately been nicknamed "Beans" Horton. No matter where he went, he couldn't escape the association.

And now what? There was no guesswork attached to it; Frank knew exactly what would happen. He would walk into the magnificent Horton home and his father would welcome him with an affectionate smile. On the following morning he would be escorted to the Horton plant and deposited in a large office that carried his name on the door. And from that moment on, he would live a life of beans.

The youth's fist clenched. No, he wasn't going to do it! What if the Hortons had been carrying the business onward from generation to generation? This was his life, and he was going to live it as he saw fit . . .

Several hours later, Frank Horton sat with his father in a living room that resembled the Yale Bowl. The old man seemed to be on the verge of apoplexy.

"Do you mean to tell me, sir," he roared, "that you do not wish to enter the Horton bean business? Have you taken leave of your senses, or is this your idea of a joke?"

The youth was extremely calm.

"I assure you, father," he returned, "that I am as sane as I can be. I appreciate all you've done for me and I know that I am tossing away a future that, as far as money is concerned, is unlimited. But I also know that I'm sick and tired of being associated with beans. And I'm going to get away from them, even if I have to change my name."

His father was giving vent to some choking sounds.

"You're sick of beans, eh? Well, you go out into the world and see if you can earn your own living. But I want to warn you that this is the end. Don't come crawling back on your knees and cry to me that you made a mistake. You're to get out and stay out!"

And Frank Horton—now Frank Smith—walked from the room. He felt quite certain that he was going to miss nothing in that gigantic house, with the possible exception of his pet bulldog. And that wouldn't be so difficult either. Because the dog's name was Beansie . . .

The young man made good. I am having him do that because it's nice to get a little variety into the column for a change. As Frank Smith he turned to the banking business. Starting in an obscure position in a banking firm, the youth toiled mightily—and progressed in excellent fashion. In due time, he married happily—and stayed that way. Which is another reason why this story is a fable.

His wife alone knew his great secret. And she was sweet and understanding. Never once did she bring a bean to the table, and at no time did she bring beans into the conversation. She knew that this was a topic that seared her man's very soul.

Occasionally, over a drink or two, her husband would bring up the subject of his own accord. And even then, his wife wouldn't talk. She would merely nod in complete agreement. What a woman!

A few weeks ago, Frank Smith was summoned to the office of the president of his banking firm. He stumbled over 64 vice presidents who were discussing the price of golf balls, and walked into the sacred spot. The big man looked up.

"Smith," he yodeled, "you have been doing excellent work around here for more than eight years. We like to reward honesty and faithfulness, and your turn has arrived. As you doubtless know, we have recently been appointed receiver for several bankrupt firms. We are placing you in charge of one of them, and the complete readjustment of this plant depends entirely upon you.

"Starting the first of the month, with the usual good wishes of our firm, you will proceed to and take charge of the Horton Bean Factory!" . . .

Damrosch Sees Broadcasts Improving Musical Taste of America

Walter Damrosch, who concludes his NBC Music Appreciation series for the season with tomorrow's program at 11 a. m., considers radio a potent agency for the development of music in America and sees a nation of music lovers in the making.

Walter Damrosch

Not more than one per cent of the country's population know the difference between a Brahms and a Beethoven symphony, Damrosch says, but he is convinced that the percentage can be doubled every year if the broadcasters will continue to give good music a proper place in their programs. Damrosch completes his fourth year as director of the NBC hour tomorrow. Last Sunday he concluded his fifth season as conductor of the Walter Damrosch Symphonic Hour.

Five symphonic compositions selected as the best from 573 entries for the NBC Orchestral Awards for American composers will be played by an orchestra under the baton of Eugene Goosens, conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, from the NBC studios over an NBC network including WCAE at 10:15 p. m. Sunday and the following Sunday. The final ranking of the compositions, which were chosen by a jury composed of Walter Damrosch, Tullio Serafin, Leopold Stokowski, Frederick Stock and Nickolai Sokoloff, will be made by the vote of 150 well-known judges of music, listening in from all parts of the country. Dr. Neil Earhart, of Pittsburgh's Board of Education, is one of Pennsylvania six judges.

Like wolves they swooped down on the village—to pillage, rob and destroy! Sneering at decency, scoffing at law, until they met face to face a mighty force their twisted minds could not understand! They couldn't get it, but it got them!

BUCS LOSE SIX OUT OF NINE ABROAD

THE PIRATES HAVE not been fracturing any records as a road club this spring. Yesterday's game at Chicago, in which another tidy lead of four runs was allowed to slip away, was the sixth lost by the Bucs out of nine played so far on foreign fields. Perhaps the shift to the home grounds for 19 of the next 20 games, the sending of Floyd Vaughan to shortstop to take the place of the light-hitting Tommy Thevenow and the shaking up of the batting order will bring a change of luck. There's some tough opposition to be faced during the Oakland stay, however, and the slatting series with the made-over Reds is anything but a soft spot.

Floyd Vaughan

With Chick Hafey, Babe Herman, ex-Pirate George Grantham and others added to its forces, the Cincinnati club now packs a lot of power. It represents the biggest job of reconstruction done in the majors in a long time, as of the 12 men who appeared in the Reds' final game of last season in this city only Taylor Douthit and Leo Durocher remained to start the present series. Even in winning only one game out of three from the Cardinals in the set ended yesterday, just the ninth time they have beaten St. Louis in their last 68 meetings, the Howleys showed evidence of improvement. One out of three isn't much to brag about, but it's a better percentage than the Reds have made against the Missourians for the last three years, when they did not beat the Cards more than three times in any full season.

WHEN THE YANKEES and Tigers put through a big five-player trade on Memorial Day in 1930 there was much speculation as to which side had got the better of the swap. The Yanks gave up Pitcher Waite Hoyt and Shortstop Mark Koenig for Pitcher Owen Carroll, Outfielder Harry Rice and Shortstop George Wuestling.

It develops that neither club got a gold mine out of the deal. Not one of the five players involved is now with the team to which he was traded. Koenig, released to the Missions by Detroit the other day, was the last to go. Hoyt is with the Dodgers, Carroll with the Reds, and Rice and Wuestling have gone to the minors.

IF THEY HAD not lifted old Rube Benton for a pinch-hitter in the first half of the ninth inning, the veteran southpaw, hurling for Minneapolis against Indianapolis in the American Association, might have set a new all-time record for lowest number of pitches in a game.

In eight complete innings, Benton delivered the ball to the batters only 57 times, an average of just a shade above seven to an inning. Slim Sallee, with 65 while pitching for the Reds in 1919, is credited with the record for a full game.

IF THE FUTURE of the A's may be judged by the changing fortunes of their pitching mainstay, their chances for a fourth straight pennant must be considered none too promising. Lefty Grove has not succeeded in getting off to his usual flying start. For the first time since he dropped a pair of decisions in Chicago and Cleveland on June 10 and 11, 1930, the star southpaw has lost two games in succession, and you've got to go back six years to 1926, his second season in the majors, to find the last previous instance in which he was defeated twice in his first three engagements.

Lefty Grove

IN 1927 GROVE lost his first game, tied the second and hung up two victories before his next defeat. In 1928 he lost his first and won the next six. In 1929 he won the first three, lost the fourth and then copped nine in a row.

In 1930 Lefty started off with seven straight wins. Last year he began with a win, lost the second, took the next eight, lost another and then turned in 16 consecutive victories. In 1927 it was not until May 5 that he suffered his second defeat; in 1928, May 24; in 1929, June 29; in 1930, June 11, and in 1931, June 5.

BUT THE FACT that Bob this year was beaten for the second time as early as April 26 doesn't necessarily mean he is going to have an off season. Pitchers as great as Grove don't skid for any great length of time. On the contrary, eastern critics think he will be better than ever.

They say he is different this spring; looks more like a pitcher. That is, he has a real change of pace and relies more on his curve, instead of depending so much on blinding speed. They figure that he has mellowed and come to a realization that a hurler may burn himself out.

ARMY AND NAVY have not yet agreed to meet in football this year, but no difficulty is expected in bringing them together, probably on December 3. A change in the scene of the contest is in prospect as Washington is after it to feature the George Washington bicentennial celebration, with every hope of success. It is planned to split the profits three ways, one share each to the service schools and one to the bicentennial sports committee. In this way the committee figures it can expand its sports program, providing funds for marathon races, canoe and motorboat regattas, track meets with European participants, and various other events. Army-Navy games in the past were staged in West Point, Annapolis, Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore and Chicago.

AS IN THEATRICAL circles, there is a superstition in the fight game that deaths among its prominent figures run in threes. The recent passing of Bills Rodenbach, former amateur middleweight and heavyweight champion of the United States, rounded out another trio on the grim toll.

Paddy Harmon, Tex Rickard and John Reisler, John the Barber, died in the space of a couple of months. Then Leo Flynn, Eddie Kane and Jack Dougherty passed on within a few weeks. Preceding Rodenbach this month, the last summons came for Paddy Mullins and Harry Neary, the latter an old manager of Midget Smith and Bud Gorman, among others.

INTRODUCING SUCH A radical departure from established customs as a standing start in sprint races, Hector Dyer has been getting results so encouraging that Boyd Comstock, track coach of the Los Angeles A. C., predicts he will tie the world record for 100 yards and set a new mark for 220 before the season is over.

Dyer was forced to make the change because a crouched start bothered an ailing leg, and the shift proved so effective that he did the century in 9.7 seconds.

Hec Dyer

"Dyer ran faster over the last 10 yards of his race than any runner I ever saw with the exception of Charley Paddock and possibly Eddie Tolan," said Comstock. "Now that Hec is becoming used to the standing start, I confidently expect him to equal the record for the hundred and set up a new mark for the furlong. Just watch him go from now on. The natural running position is an erect one. From a crouched start, our sprinters spend anywhere from two to ten steps fighting to regain their normal posture. While struggling in this manner they are unable to do their best running. In our experiment against a sprinter using the crouched start, we found that Dyer was a trifle behind after the first step, was even after a step and a half, and ahead after the second step. Which goes to prove that there is nothing slow about the standing start."

VINES, ALLISON YANKEE HOPES IN SINGLES

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP.)—The United States launched its bid for international tennis supremacy today with a strong squad team meeting Canada in the opening round of American Zone Davis Cup competition.

The play brought the Davis Cup debut of Ellsworth Vines, the versatile Californian who holds the United States championship, and marked the beginning of America's fifth campaign to recover the Davis Cup won by France in 1927 and still reposing in Paris.

This country's players last year were beaten by England.

U. S. OPTIMISTIC

The optimistic and well-conditioned team which Capt. Vernon S. Prentice chose to meet the Canadians is built around Vines and the hard hitting Texan, Wilmer Allison. The singles assignment was placed in their hands.

In the doubles tomorrow Allison and John Van Ryn, holders of the National title, will represent the United States. Frank Shields, husky New York boy, is expected to see action Saturday if the United States should win the first three matches.

In the opening singles today, Allison was drawn against Marcel Rainville, stocky French-Canadian. Vines' opponent was Dr. Jack Wright, Canadian champion and master of stroking style.

MRS. HOOVER TO ATTEND

A capacity crowd, including Mrs. Hoover, diplomats and other notables, was expected to witness the matches on the courts of the Chevy Chase Club.

While the United States was an overwhelming favorite, tennis fans remembered that the Dominion team last year won one of the singles matches, with Rainville defeating Sidney Wood.

TECH MANAGERS APPOINTED

The Carnegie Tech Athletic Council yesterday appointed managers for next year and also awarded letters and numerals to members of the 1931-1932 teams. The list of managers follows:

George O. Meyers, varsity football; Harold Cadmus, Jr., freshman football; S. C. Wicks, Walter E. Nelson, John T. Ford and John C. Parker, freshmen assistants.

LONDOS WINS ON FOUL

BOSTON, April 28.—Jim Londos, retained his world wrestling championship here last night when he won on a foul over Gus Theodoratos after wrestling for one hour, 19 minutes and 35 seconds. Theodoratos, who has turned several successful appearances into riots, was disqualified for kicking Londos on the jaw during a fight swing.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE LONELIEST SKIPPER OF THEM ALL—Capt. William A. Andrews was not a real captain at all, nor did he ever have a lesson in navigation in his life. He was a piano factory worker when he embarked on the adventurous career of a professional lone skipper. With a few lonely crossings of the ocean to his credit, he conceived the idea of celebrating the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America by reciprocating Columbus' visit. Sailing from Atlantic City in a tiny 14-foot boat on July 20, 1892, the Lonely Skipper landed 35 days later at Palos, the very town from which Columbus had sailed on his great expedition. He was the object of great adulation by the people of Spain, and was made the guest of the Crown all during his stay in Columbus' country.

TOMORROW: THE KING OF NONCHALANCE.

VINES TO PLAY IN BRITAIN

NEW YORK, April 28.—(AP.)—The United States Lawn Tennis Association has announced it will send Ellsworth Vines, Jr., national tennis champion, to compete in the championships at Wimbledon, England, regardless of how he makes out in Davis Cup matches on this side.

The association previously had said it would not send any member of the American Davis Cup team to Wimbledon this year. It since has decided the experience will be of benefit to Vines.

TITULAR SWIM MEET OPENS

LOS ANGELES, April 28.—(AP.)—With the names of Miss Helene Madison, of Seattle, and Miss Eleanor Holm, of New York, heading the list, the nation's best women aquatic artists are gathered here for the annual indoor championships, which open today.

Although an indoor meet, the four-day classic will inaugurate the new $200,000 Olympic swimming stadium, where many of these same performers will compete for the United States in the international games next summer.

TICK ON LOSES BY POOR RIDE

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 28.—(AP.)—A storm of discussion today followed the three-year-old debut of Tick On, the Loma stable's heavily backed hope for the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, in which he was beaten a length by Springsteel, Sylvester W. Labrot's derby candidate, over a mile and 70 yards yesterday in the Shenandoah purse.

Veterans of the turf agreed that Tick On was given a poor ride by Jockey Pete Walls, who left him in the same pocket in which both he and Springsteel found themselves in the backstretch, while the winner was taken to the outside where he could run and went on to win.

Jarvis Pittsburgh's First Olympic Hero

Annexing the 100-meter dash at Paris in 1900, Frank Jarvis won the honor of being Pittsburgh's first champion in Olympic games competition. Since then many local athletes have starred in the international contests. Virtually all of them were named by John T. Taylor, secretary-treasurer of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U., during the course of a radio interview with Harry Keck, sports editor of the Sun-Telegraph, during the weekly program of the Trained Seals over Station WCAE last night.

Taylor went deeply into the subject of amateur sports and the Olympic Games. He said amateur boxing activities have increased fourfold in the local association within the past two years and that more than 200 shows have been sanctioned through his office during the past six months.

The chances of Pittsburgh's Olympic candidates also were discussed.

HELEN EMBARKS FOR EUROPE

NEW YORK, April 28.—(AP.)—Armed with 25 tennis racquets, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody was headed for another conquest of Europe's tennis world.

She sailed at midnight, after convincing everyone who saw her in action that she has reached new heights of court skill.

Mrs. Moody's first appearance abroad will be in the French hard court championships, starting May 22. Later she will compete in the Wimbledon championships and in the Wightman Cup matches.

YALE AWARDS MADE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 28.—(AP.)—Forty-one athletic awards to members of the swimming, fencing and water polo teams have been announced by the Yale Athletic Association. Among those receiving major letters were A. F. Hapke, Milwaukee, Wis.; Joseph Barker, Omaha, Neb., and C. T. Pierson, Minneapolis, Minn., members of the swimming team.

ST. PAUL GETS PITCHER

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 28.—(AP.)—Albert Marvin, right-handed pitcher, yesterday was obtained by St. Paul of the American Association, from the New York Yankees. The deal completes payment for Jack Saltzgaver, infielder. Marvin has been with the Newark International League team for three years. The Newark franchise is owned by the Yankees.

FRENCH READY TO FACE REDS IN OPENER

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

On the return of the Pirates from their somewhat disastrous trip to Chicago, Manager George Gibson announced an important change in the lineup and a shift in the batting order for today's battle in the Oakland Orchard, the first clash of a three-game series with the Cincinnati Reds. Floyd Vaughan is to go to shortstop to take the place of Tommy Thevenow, and as a further step toward increasing the hitting power Tony Piet was elevated to third place in the clouting array, while Adam Comorosky was dropped to sixth position.

Before leaving for Pittsburgh with the club last night, Vice President S. E. Watters announced that Pitcher Leon Chagnon, of the Mission club of the Pacific Coast League, had been recalled by the Buccos.

The French-Canadian hurler was farmed out to Joe Devine's club under a special 24-hour option. In view of the weakened condition of the Pirate staff, Manager Gibson insisted on having Chagnon back and he is expected to reach the city early next week.

BUCS SPIRITS LOW

It was a saddened band of Buccos which landed at the home port this morning. The gloom was due to the poor showing made by the Pittsburghers in their last eight rounds of their final clash with the Cubs at Wrigley Field yesterday. Everything was merry in the first round, and with Gus Suhr in a continuation of his Ruthian role, the Freebooters rushed four runs over the plate in a hurry, and Pat Malone was sagging on the ropes trying hard to elude a knockout punch.

Altoona Pat then proceeded to emulate Gene Tunney, another heavyweight who got up off the floor to ride to victory. Pat held the Pittsburghers to one lone hit in the remaining eight frames and his buddies threw everything but Chicago "pineapples" at Steve Swetonic. Steve's was a reversal of form over his opening day performance in Pittsburgh. Lance Richbourg eventually connected for a homer that sent Swetonic to the bench. The round-tripper came in the fifth, the blow putting the Cubs out in front by a run. Bill Harris relieved Steve, but the damage was done and the Cubs won at the finish, 8 to 4.

KOLP TO PITCH

Making their season's debut in Pittsburgh the Reds will swing into action behind Pitcher Ray Kolp, the same tricky right-hander who threw the Pirates for a shutout loss as he heckled them recently in Cincinnati. Kolp followed his masterpiece performance by holding the Cubs to one hit and one unearned run in eight rounds before making way for a pinch-hitter. He is primed for his third endeavor today.

Opposed to Kolp will be Larry French, who was matched against Kolp in the game referred to.

Like many another club, the Reds have had their share of injuries, but they are a different ball club than last year. Fellows like Babe Herman, Mickey Heath, Chick Hafey, Poe Morrisey and Crabtree have helped the Reds' morale.

Playing without Kiki Cuyler and Woodie English, the Cubs displayed a fine spirit as they mauled the Pittsburghers in what was the second and last clash of what was to have been a four-game series.

L. Waner opened the battle with a triple and Paul came through with a double. The latter hustled to third on a bad return of the ball and he went over with one out on Traynor's single. Suhr put the Rovers four runs in front when he hit into the rightfield bleachers.

ERROR IS COSTLY

Thevenow's error played a part in two runs made by the Cubs in the second. Hartnett and Grimm singled in succession and the Pirate shortstop fumbled Jurges' grounder. Hartnett scored on the grounder and Malone advanced his mates with a sacrifice. Hack's fly to L. Waner scored Grimm.

Nothing but ciphers went on the board until the home half of the fifth when the Cubs took the lead. Hack walked and Herman doubled to score his brother recruit. Richbourg then hit into the rightfield seats for a two-run homer that put the Bruins in front. Harris relieved Swetonic at this point.

The Cubs added two safety tallies in the sixth. They added their eighth run in the seventh. Malone, meantime, was moving along like a champion and school was out for the Cubs.

STATE DEFEATED

PRINCETON, N. J., April 28.—(AP.)—The Princeton baseball team won a 12-inning struggle from Penn State here yesterday afternoon by an 8-7 score. Hoopes and Kaecan hit the first homers in University Field this season when they connected in the seventh inning off the delivery of Fred Kammer to put Penn State in the lead at 7-5.

ARSENAL VICTOR

LONDON, April 28.—(AP.)—Arsenal defeated Huddersfield Town, 2 to 1, and Newcastle United drew with Blackpool, 2-all, in soccer matches yesterday in the English League, first division.

DESTOUT SIGNED FOR HOMEWOOD INFIELD

NEW CRAWFORD NINE PRIMED FOR OPENER

By TOM BIRKS

Chippy De Stout, one of the smartest infielders the East End has produced in years, will play around home territory this season after a couple of years of minor league baseball. Information is going the rounds that Chippy has signed a contract to play third base with Homewood in the City League this season.

Chippy will make a smart running mate for Playing Manager George Spiers. The veteran is scheduled to cover the shortfield, but there is a chance that De Stout will be roaming around that position if the going gets tough.

This evening Hill district followers of the Pittsburgh Crawfords will see the newly built club swing into action against the Vandergrift club. The official opening is scheduled for tomorrow evening, when Owner Gus Greenlee has carded a big parade, with prominent city and county officials taking part, and Attorney Robert Vann set to toss out the first ball. The New York Black Yankees will provide the opposition.

VANDERGRIFT STRONG

Vandergrift will present a strong lineup to test the Charleston aggregation of sluggers. Lefty Grant will be on the mound. The portsider has a world of smoke that may prove baffling to the locals. Grant, together with Joe Murphy at shortstop and Al Bowman in the outfield, are former Middle Atlantic League players.

The game will be called at 6 o'clock. Roy Williams is scheduled to twirl for the Crawfords, with Paige ready for the Yankee game tomorrow.

Pittsburgh fans are going to get quite a kick out of this fellow Paige, who stands 6 feet 4 inches. He is one of the game's greatest comedians. In all the contests he twirled in the South he had the fans in an uproar.

The Homestead Grays play the Clayburn nine in Braddock this evening.

Since the Book team rounded out its outfield with Hadley, Gibson and Kimmick in line, it is apparent that Toby Uansa, former Pitt grid star, will be playing around his home town this season in the City League. There was a plan to make a catcher out of the flying Toby, but with Bierworth on hand, and probably another seasoned catcher, the experiment was not attempted.

SET FOR STOWE

Toby probably will scintillate in the Stowe outfield. This probably will be satisfactory to both Dave Wickline and Curley Semler, as both are very keen to have the Pitt star doing his stuff for them.

Tonight the North Siders will meet the North Side Civics at the Salt Works and this local rivalry should bring out a large crowd of fans. The newly organized Civics carry the name of many former stars with the original club.

The North Hills Church Mushball League will open its fifth season May 12, with 10 teams primed for action. A rally was held last night in the St. Alfonsus Church hall. The following teams will take part in the league race:

West View Presbyterian, Franklin, U. P., St. Alphonsus, of Wexford, Highland U. P., Bryant & Lutheran, St. Luke's Lutheran, Perrysville Presbyterian, Franklin M. E., Perrysville Lutheran and Highland Lutheran.

Athletes Give Tea, Reception

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 28.—Waynesburg College athletes today are engaging in long and strenuous workouts—in tea pouring.

Tomorrow night, at Hanna Hall, where the members of the varsity sports teams are quartered, the athletes are to give a tea and reception to faculty members and other students.

After tea the stalwarts will present James Miller's 1932 version of Shakespeare's celebrated drama, "Hamlet."

Alumni Hall is to be the scene of the dramatic effort. Immediately following the presentation all and sundry will repair to Hanna Hall for more tea.

Champions Extended In Handball Play

NEW YORK, April 28.—(AP.)—Herman Dworman and Joe Bathe, of Detroit, defending champions, were extended to defeat Leo O'Brien and Vincent Barrelli, of the Nassau Boat Club, New York, in the opening round of doubles in the senior national four-wall handball tournament at the New York Athletic Club.

The scores were 21-17 and 21-15, the losers putting up an unexpectedly strong stand against the champions.

Ruth Has Mild Case Of Water on Knee

NEW YORK, April 28.—(AP.)—Babe Ruth has an explanation for being able to knock only five home runs and hit .394 in the first fortnight. He has a mild case of water on the knee. Nothing to get alarmed about, but sufficient to cause the big fellow to give up golf for the time being and get in a little rest when not at the ball park.

GREENLEE FIELD, HOME OF CRAWFORD STARS . . . . MANAGER OSCAR CHARLESTON (INSET)

Gus Greenlee will officially dedicate the new stadium he has built for his Crawford Stars Negro baseball team in the 2400 block Bedford avenue with ceremonies preceding a game with the New York Black Yankees tomorrow evening. A practice game with Vandergrift will be played at the park this evening. Manager Charleston, who also plays first base, is the former star of the Homestead Grays. In addition to baseball, outdoor boxing bouts will be booked at the field this summer. These are Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph pictures.

MASSEY TO BOX HERRERA HERE

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Rud Jones vs. Eddie Koppy, 10 rounds, and Eddie Fellon vs. John Fernando and K. O. Redmond vs. Gene Thompson, 6 rounds each, Adrian, Mich.

Bobby Leitham vs. Spider Fladore, 10 rounds, Montreal.

George Courtney vs. Leo Lattore, 10 rounds, Waterbury, Conn.

Billy Angelo vs. Jimmy Rhodes and Johnny (Kid) Adams vs. Joe Hilton, 8 rounds each, Philadelphia.

Dick O'Leary vs. Wilbur Chevalier, 10 rounds, and Louis Disanto vs. Johnny Ryan, 8 rounds, Akron, O.

Buddy McArthur vs. Martin Levandowski, 10 rounds, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Joey Goodman vs. Alphonse Gonzalez, 10 rounds (Jack Dempsey, referee), Sarasota, Cal.

Tony Herrera, of Chicago, and Lew Massey, of Philadelphia, will box the main bout of the next show at Motor Square Garden one week from next Monday night. The show originally was booked for next Monday or Tuesday, but the setup for the food show now in progress there will not be cleared away in time, and it was decided to set back the boxing bill a full week.

This will be the next to last mitt show of the season at the Garden. The season will be concluded on Monday, May 16. The outdoor season gets under way the following Thursday at Hickey Park, Millvale, with the Tony Canzoneri-Battling Gizzy show at the Meyers Bowl the following Monday next in order.

GIZZY IN MOUNTAINS

Gizzy left last night with his manager, Abie Witz, for the mountains near Johnstown to condition himself for a tuneup bout with Jackie Cohen, of New York, at the Kapphan Arena Saturday night of next week and the Canzoneri tilt later.

A card of six bouts of six rounds each is slated at the Kapphan Arena Saturday night. A wrestling show at Motor Square Garden next Wednesday night will prevent the Moose Temple Club from running a boxing show on that night, but a card is planned there two nights later, giving Pittsburgh four shows within three nights at the Moose, Arena and Garden over the next week-end.

The Massey-Herrera bout shapes up as a topnotch match, the best arranged at the Garden in many weeks, and should do good business.

Between Rounds

Curley Klass boxes Steve Lopronchek in the main bout of an amateur boxing show at the Pittsburgh Lyceum tonight. Other bouts: J. Lappinacci vs. Steve Grivoraki, Freddie Moore vs. Walter Kaminski, Zayas vs. Johnny Leonard, Johnny Duran vs. Eddie Zivic, Johnny Birek vs. George Julian and Lenny Bertolli vs. Eddie Kaniski. Eddie Zivic plans to turn professional after his bout.

Frank Speers, of Atlanta, is setting something of a record in that he has appeared in every wrestling show put on here this year and will be in the top position again when the next card is put on at Motor Square Garden next Wednesday night, meeting Gino Garibaldi, of Italy. He won a decision over Ray Steele in the semi-final of the opening show, threw Floyd Marshall in the main bout of the second show and lost to Champion Jim Londos in the third show.

At Becker, Irish Kane's middleweight came out of his recent bout with George Peck with a dislocated thumb which will keep him on the sidelines for a month or more. He is wearing his left hand in a cast.

Kane also is handling Jack Wilson, the middleweight; Marty Garnick, welterweight; Al Van Gura, lightweight, and Dominick Mancini, junior lightweight, and has them all in good condition and ready for action.

The date of the Freddie Edwards-King Tut bout at Cleveland has been changed from Friday of next week to next Wednesday. Billy Wallace and Herman Perlick box the 10-round semi-final and Mickey Salomen meets Frankie Goosby in a six-round preliminary.

Joey Sprigal, Uniontown southpaw welterweight, is training in Cleveland with Billy Wallace.

Leon Jendrasiak, Grand Rapids lightweight, is returning home to rest up his bad left eye, which caused his last bout with Steve Benich to be stopped, and also will have his nose operated upon. His manager, Jim O'Grady, plans to bring him back to Pittsburgh during the summer months. Leon had only three bouts while here, being handicaped by the cut on his eye, but he went over big with the fans because of his aggressive style of milling.

Ray Trumble, Rockford (Ill.) middleweight, who boxes Dave Shade at Indianapolis next week, and Lou Terry, St. Louis lightweight, were introduced before the main bout at the Moose Temple last night.

CAR FOR PEPPER

ST. LOUIS, April 28.—(AP.)—A new automobile will be presented to John L. (Pepper) Martin, center fielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, when the world series flag is hoisted over Sportsmans Park here Sunday, May 15. Martin, temporarily out of the game with an injured shoulder, is expected to be back in the lineup by then.

N. PARK LINKS OPENING SET

By VEEN SWARTSFAGER

County golfers living in the northern sector are on edge awaiting tomorrow's official opening of the Allegheny County North Park links. Commissioner William D. Mansfield, who was kept from opening South Park yesterday by frigid weather, is expected to be on the job promptly at 10 a. m. to strike the first ball. Director of Parks Paul B. Riis will be master of ceremonies, assisted by the able Professional Jim MacFarland.

The wintry weather of yesterday kept down the number of opening day players at South Park.

The women's golf committee of the Pittsburgh Country Club has set four dates for one-day club tourneys. The first is to be held next Wednesday. Other dates are May 11, match play against par; May 18, medal play, and May 25, kickers' handicap.

Dr. H. S. Nicholson has been re-elected president; Clark Hammond, vice president, and P. C. Doller, H. C. Bell, R. W. Kiser, C. M. Yohe, H. N. Dauler, J. M. Hilbish, George N. Glass and Paul C. McKnight, directors of the Pittsburgh Country Club.

Tee to Green

The Culbertson Hills Golf Course, at Edinboro Lake, 18 miles south of Erie, will be opened for the season Saturday. The greens have been rolled and the fairways are in great shape, it is reported. Bill O'Donnell, brother of Jimmy O'Donnell, and erstwhile Oakland Beach pro, is the club's new instructor, succeeding Johnny Capehanco. The green fee has been lowered to $1 for all occasions.

Students of the Edinboro State Teachers' College have lined up for a flock of lessons and golf at Culbertson Hills this season.

Entries for the national public links championship to be held at the Shawnee links, Louisville, Ky., July 19-23, will close with the local U. S. G. A. commissioner on June 5. Ken Witherow, 32 Boulevard of the Allies, the local commissioner, will supply entry blanks. The qualifying will take place during the two weeks following June 15.

Tommy Armour, British open champion, has resigned as professional at the Tam O'Shanter Club, in Detroit. Tommy claims the club owes him back salary for 1930 and 1931. He plans on devoting all of his time to the Lake Shore Country Club in Detroit.

The executive committee of the West Penn Golf Association is expected to convene before the week is out, to definitely determine dates and sites for the district's major tournaments.

Mrs. Steele R. Sellers and Mrs. R. L. Thompson, Jr., were hostesses at the monthly luncheon and musical at the Shannopin Country Club yesterday.

Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Gosh, things certainly have changed! Here Art What-a-man Shires is laid up for a week and his teammates actually MISS him. I can remember when we'd get out a thanksgiving proclamation if Arthur was muzzled for just one day.

You know, that guy's been playing a great game for the Braves. I always claimed he'd be a swell first baseman if he only contracted lockjaw.

It seems these new rules against players chewing the rag with spectators practically reduced Shires to a hermit. When he started stepping on first base as a bag instead of a rostrum he turned out to be all right!

LOCAL COLLEGE STARS SET FOR PENN RELAYS

By JESS CARVER

The intercollegiate sport situation is well in hand. In fact, it is so extremely well in hand at present that there isn't much of account going on, save for an occasional tennis match here and there and the steady pounding and thumping of the track and field hopefuls preparing for various relay carnivals and Olympic Games tryouts.

Three district schools, Pitt, Geneva and West Virginia, will be represented in the annual Penn Relays in Philadelphia this week, said representatives to leave their various ports tonight. Pitt is sending a couple relay teams, composed of Mike Milligan, Len Monheim, the team captain, Woody Harris, fast stepping Ambridge Negro star, Jim Keller and Rob Roy. Geneva has a certain point winner in Howard Spencer, the lithe high jumper and hurdler, who'll confine his Penn efforts to jumping.

West Virginia is sending a squad of eight men, four of 'em Olympic team candidates, in Capt. Callaway, the Mountaineer's ace hurdler; Preaser, a sprinter; Charleston, a high jumper, and Miller, who toys with the 16-pound hammer. Imagine toying with a 16-pound hammer?

A mile relay team will leave Morgantown tomorrow night to compete Saturday. The other Geneva entry is Howard Beggs, former Aliquippa High star, who is a javelin tosser.

Shady Side Academy's representatives in the quarter-mile and mile relay events for prep schools will leave today for Philadelphia.

Tomorrow, Pitt's varsity net teams opens a two-day invasion of the hinterlands, taking on Bethany first and then on Saturday, Wash.-Jeff. Tech's varsity netmen, with a shutout victory over the Dukes to their credit, meet Grove City Saturday.

West Virginia's touring Mountaineer nine engages the Quantico Marines and Penn State squares off against Yale at New Haven today.

BELMONT LOSES ON FOUL TO GROVE

By HARRY KECK

Sports Editor

Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, for a brief spell the cock of the walk among the local welterweight boxers, slipped back another peg last night when he lost on a foul in the fifth round of his scheduled 10-round main bout with Davy Grove, of the North Side, in the Moose Temple arena, downtown.

Belmont was trying a comeback against Grove after having been beaten by Ted Yarosz and Champion Jackie Fields in recent battles at Motor Square Garden. The fans gave him an unfriendly reception when he was introduced and whooped it up for his opponent, and Jimmy never hit his stride. He didn't win a round and was handed a boxing lesson from the opening gong until the bout was stopped. Losing on a foul did not hurt his prestige so much as the fact that he was on the short end throughout the battle.

Grove boxed a cagy bout, staying on top of Jimmy all of the way and crowding him and pumping short blows to the body with both fists on the inside. He took the play completely away from Belmont, who made little effort to lead, so that the bout soon became one-sided.

WARNED BEFORE FOUL

Late in the fourth round, Belmont was warned for hitting low. Starting the fifth, he remained in a shell for more than two minutes as Grove picked his spots and did all of the punching. Then, suddenly, with about a half-minute to go, Belmont lashed out with a swinging attack from which Grove backed to the ropes. Belmont let go four blows in all, the last a left that landed low. Grove sagged into the ropes and Referee Red Robinson immediately intervened and helped him to his corner. There he was given a rest and examined by Dr. M. R. Goldman, the club physician, but he finally doubled up and the bout then was called off.

Belmont probably will be automatically suspended for fouling and fined part of his purse for the rounds eliminated by the foul, while Grove will get a 30-day suspension to recuperate from the effects of the low blow, this being the commission's procedure since the campaign to wipe out fouling was inaugurated a few years ago. Few bouts have ended in fouls here recently.

Belmont weighed 150½ pounds and Grove 149¾.

FLANAGAN, HANSON STOPPED

The only bout to go the limit before the fair-sized crowd was the opener, in which Bobby Rowe, Negro southpaw bantamweight, of the East End, won the decision over Sammy Asto, of Uniontown, in a slugging battle.

Anson Green, Homestead Negro middleweight, rallied after losing the first two rounds to Billy Flanagan, of Clearfield, in the semi-final, and dropped Belmont's stablemate with a right to the jaw in the fourth, and the bout was stopped as Billy arose helpless at the count of nine.

Ray Jennings, Homestead Negro, substituted for Carl Gross and made Tom Hanson, Braddock heavyweight, quit with a right to the body in the opening round, Hanson taking the full count.

CUBS, YANKEES LEAD CHASES IN MAJORS

Associated Press.

The American League leadership changed hands yesterday as the Yankees squeezed ahead by the process of remaining idle while the Detroit Tigers dropped a 4-to-3 decision to Chicago. The White Sox committed six errors, three of which figured in the Detroit scoring.

Wes Ferrell limited St. Louis to five hits in registering his fourth straight victory, 7 to 1.

For a team shot with injury and illness, the Chicago Cubs have managed thus far to get around surprisingly well in the National League.

They were a half game ahead of the Boston Braves today, after ringing up their fifth straight win at Pittsburgh's expense, 8 to 4.

As the Boston Braves were held indoors by cold weather, the victory put the Cubs in front.

The one other National League tilt saw the Cincinnati Reds, battling to keep away from their old basement berth, slug out a 6-to-4 win over the Cardinals.

CREDIT STATUS IMPROVING

WASHINGTON, April 28 (INS.)—Continued improvement in financial conditions took place in March and the first half of April, although business and industry still was declining, according to the Federal Reserve Board's summary.

In other quarters there were indications of a substantial acceleration of loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which announced an additional borrowing of $250,000,000 from the Treasury. The corporation now has available for loans $455,000,000 at the Treasury. In addition to about $315,000,000 already paid out, Member bank indebtedness to the Reserve banks showed a considerable reduction from early March to Apr. 20, while the member bank reserve balances were higher, both favorable factors.

COTTON QUIET AT DECLINE

NEW YORK, April 28.—Cotton opened steady today, 1 point up to 1 point off. There was some southern selling which was absorbed by some buying orders. Trading was comparatively quiet with July selling at 6.24.

According to early reports eight May notices were issued and there was some switching from May to later deliveries. Otherwise there was no special trading feature and the market seemed to be awaiting further developments as prices fluctuated within a range of 2 or 3 points during the first half hour.

Trading remained quiet with prices sagging slightly. July worked off from 6.25 to 6.18 with the general market showing net losses of about 4 to 6 points at midday.

STOCK MARKET DRIFTS INTO SLOW SAG

Several Issues Drop 1 to 2; Absence of Important Sales Noted; Steel Dips

NEW YORK, April 28.—(AP.)—The stock market showed decided signs of fatigue today, after laboring slowly higher for four successive sessions, a record of sustained firmness not duplicated since the first week of March.

After a slight upturn in the early dealings, the market drifted into a slow sag that carried several issues off 1 to 2 points by early afternoon. A few issues registered wider losses. There was a notable absence of important liquidation, however.

Alaska Juneau was again a soft spot, dipping 2 points to below 9. Auburn was also a soft spot, breaking 4 points to 35. U. S. Steel common eased only a fraction, but losses of a point or more appeared in such shares as American Can, American Telephone, North American, Allied Chemical, DuPont, Union Carbide, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, New York Central, National Biscuit, Coca Cola, Corn Products, Eastman, Case and others. The Bethlehem Steel issues were about steady, in advance of the directors' meeting after the close.

From a long range viewpoint the market appeared to be merely continuing the sidewise movement of the past fortnight, and brokers were inclined to hope for little more than a quiet, highly discriminatory trading market for the nearby future, at least. Wall street has been hopeful that the month of May might bring something in the way of a belated spring pickup in the volume of general business, which might tend further to stabilize prices.

The money market continued to reflect the pumping out of credit by the Federal Reserve system, and there was again some expectation that the directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank might pick this week for cutting the rediscount rate further. In some banking quarters, the opinion was expressed that the charge made by Senator Norbeck that banks were pursuing a deflationary policy by refusing to extend credit, might have a good moral effect and aid in the credit expansion program of the reserve system.

Forbes

Punish Those Issuing Bad Securities

—By B. C. FORBES—

Any crook who issues spurious money is sent to jail for a long term of years.

But any Tom, Dick or Harry can issue spurious bonds or stocks without one fear of punishment.

Isn't the second crime just as serious as the first? Altogether too much license is allowed security issuers. A beggar has to have a license to sell pencils. Any faker can open an office in Wall street and start issuing securities without a license.

Mr. Forbes

Stock issuers accept no responsibility. They protect themselves by adding this line to their offerings:

"While we believe the facts here given are accurate, we do not guarantee them."

So nobody has to stand back of the statements made.

THEY DO these things very much better in Britain. There security buyers are protected by law. There the issuers of prospectuses must swear that every fact and figure is strictly true. If events prove that any fact or figure was not true, the offenders are slapped into prison.

This writer has repeatedly in the past urged the passage of similar legislation here. But American investors have all along been too easy-going, too submissive. Until lately they have rarely rebelled, no matter how grievously they were mistreated.

NOW THAT IT is being revealed that financiers, capitalists, executives and other corporation executives have in many instances no real investment stake whatsoever in the financial well-being of their companies, it is doubly imperative that rank-and-file stockholders rise up and assert themselves. At each and every annual meeting from now on stockholders should be on hand to ask pertinent, penetrating questions.

Why shouldn't small investors, those holding less than 100 shares each, have at least one of their number elected to directorates now that a very large percentage of the shares of American corporations is held by small investors?

It is high time rank-and-file owners of securities insisted upon a decent measure of consideration.

ONE OF CANADA'S conspicuously able, experienced, influential citizens, R. J. Cromie, owner of the Vancouver Sun, has concluded a tour through this country and, by request, has sent this column these refreshing observations:

"Flying from Chicago to Seattle, I passed a train with two engines struggling and puffing to get its 11 passenger cars over the mountains. It was going 30 miles an hour. Our plane was sailing 7,000 feet high at 150 miles an hour.

"I thought to myself, if man could just get up in the air and get a long range view of the highly productive areas of rich land in the United States, and then visualize how science and technology and industry have enabled him to convert enormous quantities of those natural products into everything that goes for a higher and better living, he would see that the present depression is entirely one of his own making.

"The depression cannot be remedied by the present lack of cohesion between St. James street, Montreal, and Parliament at Ottawa, and between Wall street, labor headquarters, Senate, Congress and White House.

"I FOUND THE big banker in Wall Street is just as anxious as the Federation of Labor executive to end the depression; but there is no cohesion between them on a program. Nor is there cohesion or plan or program at Washington.

"Sixty-cent wheat and six-cent copper are not going to pay government and private obligations incurred when wheat was $1.20 and copper 20 cents a pound.

"The major problem is to deflate our dollar to a parity with 60-cent wheat, or else inflate, by increasing currency, the price of wheat and other commodities to the parity of the gold dollar.

"North America is the most progressive and most favored spot on earth. But there must be understanding and cohesion among our leaders as to just where we want to go and how we are to get there, and then have that plan given the widest possible publicity so that our masses will be enthusiastic and optimistic.

"Instead of struggling along on the ground, they should, metaphorically speaking, slip up into the air, get a good perspective of this rich continent and how those good things can be made available for our masses—and then come down and put those ideas into action. As soon as that is done the depression will end."

RESERVE POLICY TAKES MORE SIGNIFICANCE

Market Operators, Bankers Swing Into Line With Credit Releasing Move

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

(Universal Service.)

NEW YORK, April 28.—The aggressive counter deflationary open market operation of the Federal Reserve System is gradually becoming of more immediately practical significance.

Market operators and bankers are taking increasing cognizance of the potential significance of the maneuver.

Mr. Rukeyser

Conversation with bankers indicates that they are already seriously considering modifying their policy of abnormal liquidity, which in reality entails a withdrawal from business. The reason for their consideration of a change of policy is the campaign of the Federal Reserve in aggressively releasing credit through open market purchases of government bonds.

EFFECT NULLIFIED

Until this week the drive was in effect nullified by the disposition of member banks to use the additional credit to pay off their indebtedness at the Federal Reserve. Thus, open market funds replaced rediscounts and the intended benefits to business and agricultural borrowers of member banks were nullified.

In four weeks, the Federal Reserve by continuing purchases at the rate of acquisitions during the last fortnight, could get member banks indebtedness down to another irreducible minimum in a month. As a matter of fact, numerous important banks are already out of debt. Accordingly, the additional credit released must in time go either into excess reserves, which are unprofitable, or into loans and investments, which are income producing.

In the week ended April 20, report for which was published this week, total loans and investments of member banks, reflecting the effects of the counter deflationary campaign, showed the first gain since September 30, except over Treasury quarterly financing periods.

SWITCH HOLDINGS

In the last year or so, banks tended to increase their holdings of United States government bonds, and to divest themselves of corporate bonds. One of the constructive effects which the Federal Reserve authorities are striving for is an improvement in the investment demand for corporation bonds. As the Federal Reserve operation tends to raise the price and lower the yield on government issues, it will tend to make corporation bonds relatively more attractive.

A better bond market, which will re-establish the capacity of strong corporations to finance themselves, would of course constitute a step toward business recovery.

DUKE NETTERS BLANKED BY TECH SQUAD

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Carnegie Tech's clever varsity racquet crew opened its 1931 campaign yesterday and signalized the event by blanking the Duquesne University squad, 8-0, on the Bluff asphalt courts. Despite chilly weather and stiff breeze the contestants offered interesting brand of the pastime.

Everett Groves, slim Tartan chopster, found the hard-surfaced courts much to his liking, his heavily undercut ground strokes and reverse twist service bothering Frank Casey, Red and Blue ace, aplenty after the initial set and accounting for 3-6, 6-2, 6-3 success over the Hill driver. Gesling and Jalonack likewise pulled out extra-frame decisions for the Plaid, the former outstaying Rege Bullion, home leader, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, and the latter edging out Cliff Soisson, Bellevue representative in the Duke array, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3. Both Bullion and Soisson appeared prone to overcautiousness, underhitting in the vital stages cost them dearly.

Carnegie, bolstered by addition of the sophomore luminaries, Rufus Hartig and Bill Corshenhauser, offered a nicely balanced lineup. Each team joined battle minus a regular. Stuart Dueger, the visitors' griddler-racqueter, being laid up with a severe cold, and Joe O'Neill, husky Hilltopper, achieving the absent list because he still was counting the primary vote at a Mt. Washington polling place.

Interscholastic Conference netmen monopolize today's district card. Tomorrow Duquesne entertains Geneva on the Bluff and Pitt invades Bethany, while on Saturday, Carnegie treks to Grove City and the Panthers encounter Wash-Jeff at Little Washington.

The Duke-Tech summary:

Singles—Groves, Carnegie, defeated Casey, Duquesne, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3; Gesling, Carnegie, defeated Bullion, Duquesne, 6-3, 6-4; Hartig, Carnegie, defeated Stillwagon, Duquesne, 6-3, 6-0; Jalonack, Carnegie, defeated Soisson, Duquesne, 6-1, 1-6, 6-3; Morris, Carnegie, defeated Purcell, Duquesne, 6-1, 6-0; Corshenhauser, Carnegie, defeated Harkins, Duquesne, 6-0, 7-5.

Doubles—Groves and Gesling, Carnegie, defeated Casey and Soisson, Duquesne, 6-1, 6-4; Hartig and Jalonack, Carnegie, defeated Bullion and Gangler, Duquesne, 6-0, 6-1. (Both doubles match, Morris and Corshenhauser, Carnegie, vs. Murphy and Purcell, Duquesne, unplayed.

Clues Found by Colt Are Sent to Laboratory To Be Analyzed

CHAPTER XIX

As the long distance conversation ended, the work of the vacuum cleaners was getting under way.

Instantly the penthouse of Lola Carewe was filled with a weird sound. At that dark hour the moaning whine, the wheezing drone of those vacuum cleaners operated by two young detectives from Center street echoed mournfully through the rooms. Every particle of dust in the room where the crime had been done was being garnered into those bloated pouches. Millions of infinite particles were being bagged like so much game for the hunter. Treasure dust in the man-hunt. In swollen bundles this dust would be gathered. Somewhere in the multitudes of particles there might lie invisible to the naked eye, a vital clue. To some police detectives, the carpet sweeper is a tool as indispensable as the magnifying glass, the tape measure and the ink of the fingerprint man.

But District Attorney Dougherty viewed the two machines with a bilious eye.

"Colt," he exclaimed with a reproachful glance back over his shoulder, "I didn't know you had gone in for this sort of thing."

"Ever hear of it before?"

"Oh, I've read about the Viennese police doing something of the kind. But it all seems very faddistic to me. If you don't mind my saying so, I don't believe you can solve crimes by looking at sweepings under a microscope."

"But Mr. Dougherty—" I started to protest.

"Any more," insisted the district attorney, crushing me with a glance, "than I believe you can tell fortunes with tea-leaves."

TO BE ANALYZED

Colt smiled, but did not reply. Having set the machines upon their droning task, the commissioner went to the telephone and called a Morningside number. His conversation was revealing.

"Hello, Prof. Luckner. I am sorry to get you out of bed. This is Thatcher Colt. I am engaged on a very mysterious case and I want to send you some specimens for analysis. Bags of dust—and the clothing of two murdered girls. Could you start in right away? I can have them there in an hour. Thank you."

As he hung up the receiver, Colt turned to Flynn.

"As soon as ready, send the vacuum cleaner bags and all the clothes of the two girls to the apartment of Morningside Heights. The men need not wait there."

"Right!"

Colt turned away. His dark brows were concentrated in an unaccustomed frown. I saw that some facet of this double riddle had assumed immense importance in his eyes. Perhaps it was only guess-work, but I had a hunch that the chief was still preoccupied with the problem of those strange markings on the neck of Christine Quires. With an abstracted air, he crossed the living room and passed down the corridor to the foyer and the front door. Dougherty was about to follow, but I motioned to him to remain. Together we stood by the fireplace, smoking cigarets.

RETRACING STEPS

"What is he looking for?" rumbled Dougherty out of the corner of his mouth, after five minutes of silence.

"The murderer," I grinned.

At that moment Colt reappeared in the doorway. His clothing was wet, his black hair tousled. He had been out on the terrace. His eyes were set in an intent gaze that was almost somnambulistic in its complete concentration. Never had I seen the chief so deeply immersed in a problem. With slow, plodding steps he traversed the living room and then, suddenly, I realized what it was he was doing.

He was retracing his own itinerary, just as we had followed Lola Carewe hours ago on a tour through the rooms of the apartment.

What was the purpose of this steady retracing of old steps? I watched, fascinated—I had not seen Thatcher Colt in this strange mood before. The personal challenge, perhaps the very impertinence of these murders, had brought him to a high-pitch of determined effort.

To the kitchen we went, and from there through room after room. We did not follow him, but we could hear him poking about in closets and opening boxes and trunks, even lifting windows and trying doors.

STRAND OF HAIR

Finally he came back to us, having completed the circuit and re-examined all the rooms. As he entered the drawing-room, I saw him thrust some large object into the left pocket of his trousers. It made a noticeable bulge.

But of this object which he had concealed, Thatcher Colt made no mention at the moment. Instead he held out his right hand, on which lay a long, golden strand of hair—from the head of a woman.

"Does that mean anything to you?" he asked, his voice brittle, unnaturally calm. I saw that he had not looked in vain, he had made discoveries and he considered them important.

"It is a hair, the color of Christine's hair," declared Dougherty. "Where did you find it?"

"On the floor — in Lola's room."

"But how could you find a thing like this—a thin strand of hair—"

"Because I knew where to look," answered Colt grimly. "It was near a window."

"A terrace window?"

"No, Dougherty—one that opens on a straight drop of 23 stories to the street."

Dougherty ran a thick hand through his mop of red curls. His blue eyes, bedeviled, rolled unhappily.

"How, Thatcher—" he protested.

But Colt, having turned the strand of hair over to me, was already at the guest room door, talking to Flynn. I found an envelope, put the hair in it, marked the envelope and put it in my pocket.

"Leave a good man in charge when you go back to headquarters," the chief was telling Flynn. "I shall be at my home. If the Rochester call comes, switch it there. And keep me posted."

RETURNS FOR PICTURE

In silence Dougherty and I followed Colt down the corridor toward the foyer. But midway in the passage, the Commissioner paused and faced about.

"I had forgotten something," he murmured. "Something important."

Returning to the living room, he crossed to what had been the boudoir of Lola Carewe and knocked. Dorothy Lox opened the door.

"On the dresser," directed the commissioner, without entering, "there is a framed picture of a young man. May I have the picture?"

"No," protested a cross old voice from within. "That's Lola's picture and I'm going to see to it; it goes into her coffin."

"There's plenty of time for that," answered Colt. "Let's have the picture."

There was no further protest. With the framed portrait in his hands, Colt went to a small table in the living room. There, with his gloved hands, he pried at the back of the frame and finally it fell apart in his hands, frame, glass, backing and photograph.

COLT SHOWS CLUES

It was the picture itself that he wanted. Holding it up to the light, he studied the photographer's mark at the lower part of the cardboard mount.

"Marcel Grandon, 60, Avenue D'Iena," he repeated aloud. "I can remember that."

Deliberately he reassembled the pieces into order and then put the framed picture into my hands.

"You take charge of that, Tony," he instructed. "I'll tell you what to do with it later."

At the door, to let us out, stood the green-robed, homely Chung. His shapeless smile was the last thing I saw, as we left the pent-house and descended the stairs.

On the first landing, Colt stopped us.

"Tony," he said, "I am sending you down to headquarters with several things of the utmost importance to this case. Listen carefully, for if my instructions are carried out I believe we can break this case in 24 hours."

"What are the things?" blurted Dougherty, rubbing his hands with curiosity.

From the breast pocket of his evening coat Colt drew forth a bulky object, wrapped in a handkerchief.

"Take this down to headquarters," the commissioner directed, while Dougherty eyed the irregular bundle with pudgy suspicion. "Have its contents analyzed at once. You may show it to Mr. Dougherty, handle it carefully."

I drew back the silken folds of the handkerchief. There in my hand lay the hypodermic syringe and needle which Dr. Baldwin had used just before Lola Carewe breathed her last!

It was the syringe, then, that Colt had lifted from the medicine case. Had Baldwin noticed? Surely he had not forgotten such an important accessory! Or had he done just that, swept along in the excitement?

The possibility that Dr. Baldwin had had a hand in the death of Lola or Christine seemed remote to the point of absurdity. What opportunity had there been?

But I had not time then for idle speculation. From the left-hand pocket of his trousers, Colt took out a coil of brown leather strap. It had a buckle at the end, the kind of strap used on trunks. I noticed that the strap had recently been wet.

"What's that for?" rumbled Dougherty, ogling the strap suspiciously.

"You will take this down to Dr. Multooler," resumed Colt crisply. "Tell him I want it turned over for a laboratory analysis. Also have that strand of hair identified as belonging to Christine."

"And the frame?" I prompted.

"You are to take the picture," he added, "to Mr. Gavin, the telegraph manager in headquarters. Tell him I want that picture sent to M. Dupont, head of the Paris police force, tonight—by telephoto. Clear?"

"Clear, chief!"

"When you are through, Tony, join Dougherty and me at my house!"

Synopsis

Following the receipt of a death threat, Lola Carewe, known as "The Night Club Lady," is mysteriously slain in her penthouse apartment at 3 a. m. New Year's. Dr. Hugh Baldwin reports death due to heart failure. The only clue to the murderer is a medical laboratory specimen box found outside Lola's window. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt attaches importance to the young man whose photograph is found in Lola's room, and whose identity Lola had refused to reveal beyond his first name, "Basil." At the mention of "Basil," Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, becomes hysterical. It is known that Lola quarreled with Guy Everett and Vincent Rowland, a lawyer, over investments. Eunice, the maid, confesses she was employed by Everett to report the goings on in the apartment. The mystery deepens with the finding of the body of Christine Quires, Lola's guest. Christine had been killed before Lola and her body hidden until an opportune moment arrived for the murderer to place it, soaking wet, in Lola's room. The findings are similar to those in Lola's case except that Christine's neck was bruised after death. Everett, Christine's last escort, claims he left her at the apartment elevator at midnight New Year's Eve, and then went for a ride on the Motor Parkway, alone, arriving home after 3 a. m. Mrs. Carewe informs Colt that Christine lived with a brother, Edward, in Rochester, and was to receive her inheritance shortly.

Now Go On

The police commissioner explained about the photograph.

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Lillian Gets Urgent 'Phone Call From Mrs. Brixton

Long experience with Katie has taught me to speak and act quickly when her supersensitive feelings are wounded. If she were less valuable to me, less faithful and devoted, I never should palliate the atrocious breaches of discipline of which she is often guilty. But I long since learned that I either must put up with my little maid "as is" or get rid of her altogether.

"You silly, silly child," I said tenderly, smiling at her. "You know you wouldn't cook for anybody else but me, and if you did want to, I wouldn't let you go and do it, so stop talking foolishly and fix me something nice in a hurry, will you please?"

The storm clouds vanished from her face, and she grinned widely at me.

"Vat you vant?" she queried. "I haf someting you like for loonch — dot jellied consoomme und creamed sheecken in patties und crocodile pears for salad und peach custard und everything in ice box and I can warm sheecken in two shakes of leetle sheep's tail; you tink dot enoof, huh?"

"Yes, Katie, I think I may keep from starving on that menu." I told her, making my words an excuse for the smile at her recital and her ludicrous culinary terms which I otherwise could not have kept from my lips.

Katie giggled.

"You so loony, Meesses Graham. You shoost make me doobie over. Vere you vant to eet, in dining room?"

KATIE TIMES WORK

"No, no, indeed, Katie," I said, quickly. "It would be ever so much cozier to have it here at the table in the kitchen. Then, too, I am in a great hurry and it would be a waste of time to carry my lunch into the dining room. Just get it ready as quickly as you can right here."

Those tings take five, ten meenits," she said. "Eef you only tell me before—"

"I didn't wake up until a few minutes ago, Katie," I told her, "and I can wait ten minutes very easily. Give me the jellied consomme now and I'll eat it very slowly."

"I set all your dishes oudt first," she said shrewdly. "Den dot take more time."

She busied herself with laying out the individual china service which I had learned from observation that she keeps sacred to my use. Her movements were dawdling. Totally unlike her usually brisk ones and it was not until almost ten minutes had passed that she set before me the jellied consomme which was to be my first course. So well had she timed it that the piping hot chicken patties and the rest of my luncheon was ready as soon as I had finished my consomme.

"That was a wonderful luncheon, Katie," I said when I had finished. "Thank you so much. And I want you to know that I appreciate your stopping your work and taking care of me that way."

"Vy not for I stop my work?" Katie demanded. "You always take care of eferybody joost like vun angel dot you are. Eef I no stop get you something to eat somebody ought keek me all round keetchen."

A CALL FOR LILLIAN

I patted her shoulder as I went out of the kitchen.

"You never fail me, Katie," I said, and the little tribute was heartfelt.

"And now," I said to Lillian sternly when I had come back into the living room, "I've fulfilled my part of the bargain. Katie has stuffed me till I am a sister to the hop-toad. Now you go to bed. Any particular instructions on this job?"

"Nothing except to sit out here and be in readiness for anything Katherine may want," she replied. "And now that it's all over, I don't mind admitting that I'm mighty glad to have you take over the job for a few hours. I'm dead tired and I don't care who knows it."

"A few hours." I said indignantly. "There's nobody going to disturb you for the next 12 hours unless it's over my dead body. You're going to sleep the clock round, Lady, or I'll know the reason why!"

I meant every word of the promise, and was all the more chagrined three hours later when Katie answered a ring of the telephone that brought to me an urgent message.

"Meeses Brixton she say she must spik to Meeses Underwood right avay qveeck."

My little maid's eyes reflected my query.

Had anything happened to Marion?

ENRIGHT CHAPTER

At the Enright where Miss Ruthie Miller conducts the dancing class every Saturday morning before the regular meet of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, Miss Miller is very much pleased with the showing of her little pupils.

Miss Miller said: "I have promised the youngsters that if they continue to show improvement as rapidly in the next three or four weeks, as they have in the past I'll build a miniature stage show around them that will equal anything that has been put on at any of the other chapters."

The new members that joined Miss Miller's dancing class last week were:

Mildren Zwergel, Margaret Walders, Garnet Keely, Hazel Clark, Hilda Redman, Joseph Sesti, Rose Maize, Delores Spaven, Mary Mathews, Constance Reese.

Due to rehearsals elsewhere the youngsters of the Schenley Theater chapter were entertained by the Schenley Band and Dave Jefferies.

Dave explained to the boys and girls that he had arranged a large stage show for them, but the youngsters who were going to appear were drafted to perform at a "Kiddies" show elsewhere for charity. However, Dave is a whole show himself, so the youngsters were not very much disappointed. He sang and danced for them, and carried the show along very nice. The youngsters of this chapter call him the "Dick Powell" of the Schenley.

Some of the youngsters that Dave entertained Saturday were: Anthony Marino, Charles Harris, Sidney Hauser, Agnes Dedelko, Claire Brenner, Sidney Pomerant, Alex Endrodi, Florence Hoffman, Rezena Hurley, Pauline Brown, William Chornyak, Nicholas Deulus, Clara Penner, Othman Muellar, John Joyce, Arthur Gerson, George Walters, Bob Diver, Margaret Dendreak, Steve Bowowitz, Prentice Coggins, Richard Tunner, Dick Funer, Robert Lavorgna and Alfred Curotolo.

If you are not a member of this club for boys and girls and you want to join, send your name and address, name of your parents, school you attend, date and year of your birth to the Secretary, Junior Komic Club, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., and a membership card and button will be mailed you, or you may join at any of the Warner Theaters where the Junior Komic Club meets on Saturday.

The Election

Prohibition and Machine Politics Have Been Dealt a Blow by the Primary.

The result of the primary election is a victory for the liberals.

The people of Pennsylvania have shown by choosing Senator James J. Davis, anti-dry, in preference to Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, dry, as the Republican candidate for the United States Senate, that they are opposed to prohibition. Davis, if elected, will have a mandate to vote for the repeal of the Volstead act and the Eighteenth Amendment.

Liberal principles have also triumphed in the nominations for the Legislature in Allegheny County, for the returns show a majority of the successful candidates are men who pledged themselves to oppose the state prohibition act and the Blue Law.

It also appears likely that Allegheny County's delegation in the Legislature next year will favor stricter regulation of the public utilities with a view to keeping them from charging exorbitant rates.

The adoption of the spoils system by Gov. Pinchot and his chief lieutenant in Allegheny County, County Commissioner C. C. McGovern, impaired their prestige and no doubt had considerable to do with the defeat of their ticket. The people do not approve of machine methods.

It is encouraging to note that in some of the contests the voters smashed the slate of the so-called regular Republican organization.

Judge Joseph Stadtfeld has apparently won, on the face of incomplete returns, the nomination for a full term on the Superior Court bench. This is a defeat for the Vare machine and a fine thing for Pennsylvania.

Ralph Flinn, who seemingly has lost the nomination for Auditor General, can take pride and satisfaction in the large vote given him in Allegheny County, his home county, where the people know and appreciate him.

Disappointing as the election was in some respects, it showed a commendable spirit of independence, in the Democratic as well as the Republican ballots.

Accident 'Repeaters'

The Licenses of Dangerous Drivers Should Be Revoked.

In connection with the efforts that are being made to establish Pittsburgh as "the safest city in 1932" and thus win the National Traffic Safety Contest, a careful study has been made of automobile accident "repeaters" whose mishaps figured in the reports covering the period from January 1, 1928, to December 31, 1931.

Of 19,000 drivers involved in accidents during the four years, 371 were "repeaters," and of these 344 were involved in two accidents, 25 in three, and two in five accidents.

Of the 27 drivers with three or more accidents, we are told, 15 appear to be deficient in safe driving knowledge and "apparently are in need of further examination," while the remaining 12 appear to have been involved in the accidents through no fault of their own.

Drivers who because of their bad driving have had three accidents are obviously a menace to public safety. Their licenses should be revoked.

Healthy Teeth

The Odontological Society Is Doing Good Work With Its Clinics for Children.

This is "Dental Health Week," an occasion that calls for a word of appreciation of the good work being done by the Odontological Society of Western Pennsylvania.

It is generally recognized that the foundation for strong healthy teeth in adults must be laid in infancy. The Odontological Society has been spreading this truth through clinics in the Jenkins Arcade and 14 outlying districts, and it is not an exaggeration to say that hundreds, if not thousands, of men and women of a few years hence will have sound teeth who would not have them if those clinics had not been in operation.

The society emphasizes the importance of preserving the six-year molars, which it calls "the foundation of the dental arch of the mouth." From the sixth to the twelfth year children's teeth should be examined frequently by the family dentist, so that decay in the molars may be detected and stopped.

Not only children, of course, but everyone should keep in frequent touch with the dentist. Healthy teeth are priceless.

The Threat to Fruit

It Is to Be Hoped the Crop Has Escaped Injury From Frost

The mercury went down to the freezing point Tuesday night, but Weather Forecaster W. S. Brotzman does not believe the cold did any very great amount of damage to the fruit crop.

It is to be hoped the crop escaped, not only for the benefit of the unemployed and destitute, for whom a bountiful yield of apples and peaches may be a godsend, but also for the benefit of commercial growers.

Pennsylvania's fruit crop is steadily growing in importance. Take apples. More and more Pennsylvanians are depending on the home-grown product.

The Bureau of Markets of the State Department of Agriculture reports that rail shipments of apples into Pennsylvania from other states were one-third less last year than five years ago, while rail shipments from Pennsylvania producing points to Pennsylvania cities have held uniform and truck shipments have increased many fold.

We still import many hundreds of cars of apples each year from Oregon and Washington, paying freight charges for the haul across the continent. But there is no reason why we should; for apples just as good can be raised at home, provided Jack Frost behaves.

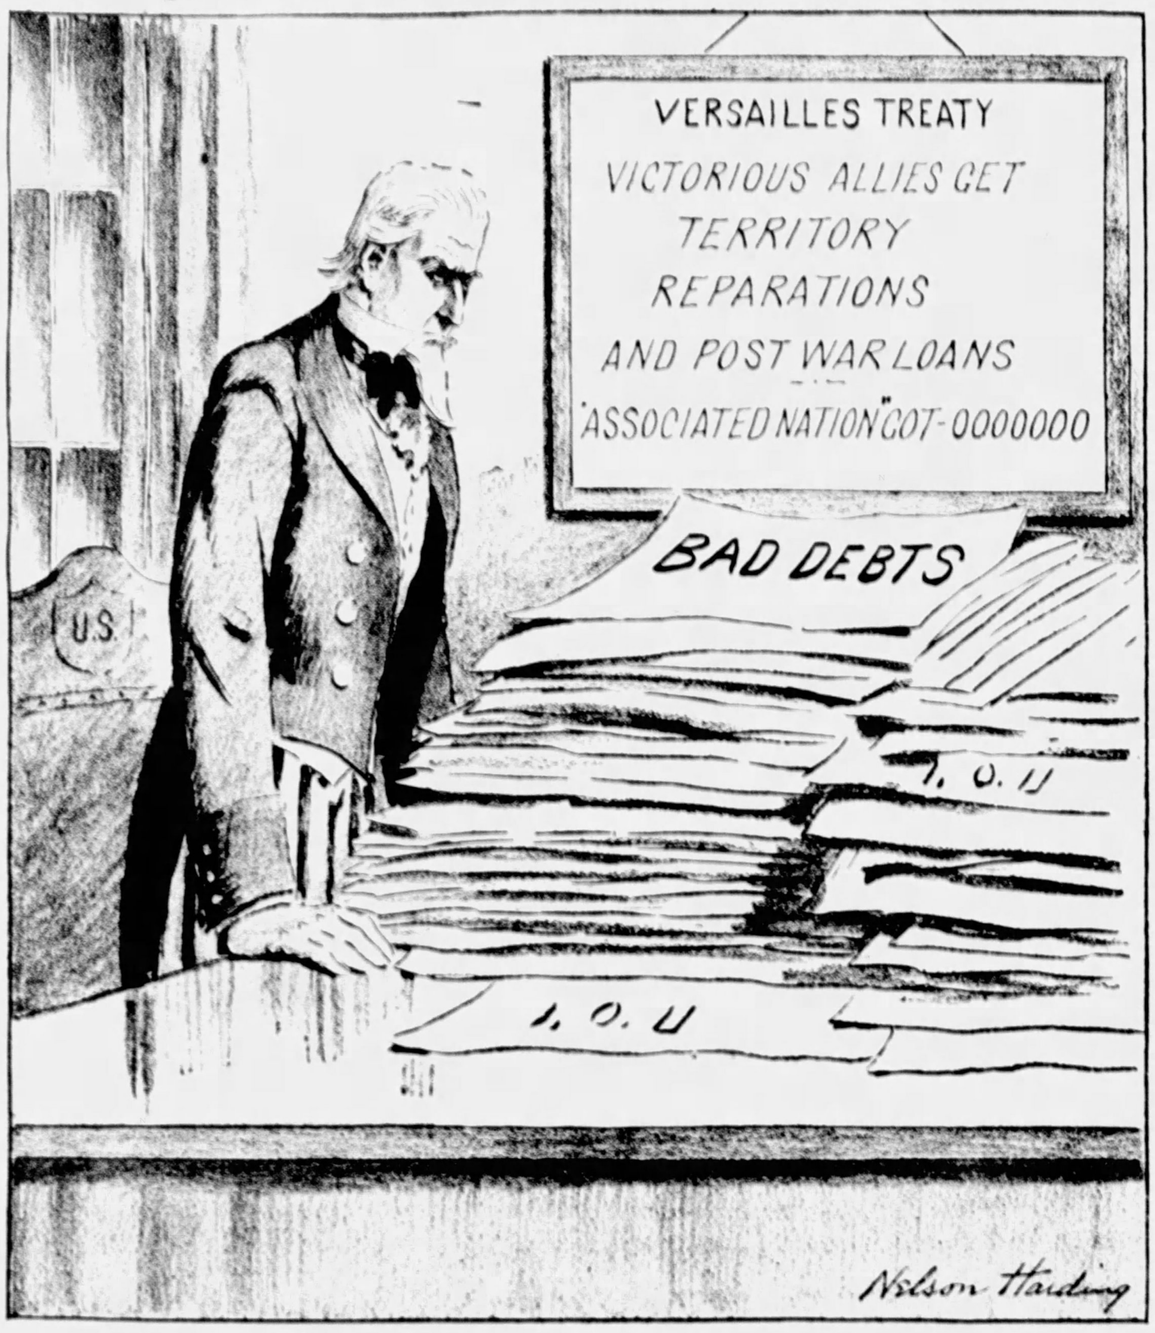
The Spoils of War

By Nelson Harding



It was big-hearted Sam who said
For spoils of war he did not care,
And so his friends reserved for him
A row of ciphers as his share.

To rescue his associates
He loaned and gave and bled and toiled.
They got the spoil of victory,
While he, a victor, got the spoiled.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Vanity-Balm

The heart-balm market appears to be rising again. The price of fluctuating affections is going UP! * * *

At the date of this writing, the newspaper headlines have broken into a perfect rash of heart-balm suits. An actress wants $250,000 for the purloining of her husband's alleged "heart." And an ex-showgirl demands $400,000 for the loss of her ex-fiance's affections. One hundred thousand dollars is positively the lowest price asked, today, for a wavering wooer or a stepping husband.

Well—ladies must live. And in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns—and turns—and TURNS! Two or three years ago, when money was plentiful, there was a big slump in heart-balm and one wife valued the heart of her titled husband as low as $25,000. Perhaps that was all he had. Still, to ask $25,000 for a love that was colder than yesterday's buttered toast, might be profiteering.

* * *

The love that has to be fought for is not worth the wear and tear on a pair of good boxing-gloves. The kind of love that has to be tied isn't worth the price of the string. There is no such thing as "lost love" or "alienated affections." Real love cannot be lost or alienated.

* * *

The fact is that no woman ever sued for "heart-balm." What a woman sues for is VANITY-BALM—and a salve for her wounded ego. Even when she doesn't particularly want the man herself, she feels that it is reflection on her charms to let another woman walk off with him.

The kind of sweetheart or husband who makes a woman miserable and can never be depended on is like an old second-hand motor car, on which the brakes refuse to work and which is always failing her at a critical moment. She may wonder why she continues to put up with the vagaries and annoyances of such a car; and may even plan to JUNK it. But just let somebody else come along and try to drive off with it, and she yells for the police! * * *

Thus, the moment a woman sees another woman about to appropriate her MAN, his value goes up in her eyes, like the thermometer in August; and she decides that the love that wasn't worth two cents is worth $250,000.

* * *

She'll make him PAY for hurting her pride, deflating her ego and flouting her charms! That's Vanity-Balm!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 28.—Fannie Brice's husband, Billy Rose, has proved the one-night stand is not dead and after a gallant sortie in the tall grass, gives a mighty new impetus to tank town trouping. He has just reached the Rialto with his barnstormers after the most profitable season on record.

His company included such seasoned performers as his wife, Fannie, Phil Baker and Ted Healy. All are sly comics with a flair for the ribald. The play was a thin vehicle called "Crazy Quilt," which lasted but a few weeks in the calloused metropolis.

Despite advice of friends, relatives—and it is rumored an alienist—Rose, in a special train, made a coast-to-coast circuit in a cymbal clashing hullabaloo that would have shamed Toby Hamilton in the flower of his circus exploitation. Inflammatory posters screamed wildest exaggerations.

Such as "Saturnalia of Wanton Mirth!" "The Duurbar of Delhi Shamed." "The Crowning Optical Delight." "Maelstrom of Lithesome Sprites." "A Tabasconian Blast from Old Cordova." "Voluptuous Houris and Chic Grisettes" and so on. The idea clicked into a major miracle of the dull season.

The show, chiefly indulging "sleeper jumps," netted the largest grosses known despite a winter signalized by utter theatrical chaos. Some of the cities visited had not seen a New York musical show in three years. They seemed fairly panting for such fleshly fare.

Average weekly business for four consecutive weeks of one night stands averaged slightly more than $42,000. In some of the far-flung frontiers, scarcely on the maps, the troupers would pick up $5,000 in a matinee and evening. Audiences would be recruited from a radius of 200 miles.

Rose is one of those human anomolies Broadway spawns at intervals. He is an abbreviated—so much so he affects high heels—young man in his 30's. Once champion shorthand reporter, he then turned to the honey-lipped newlings of Tin Pan Alley and later to shoestring producing.

* * *

New York theater audiences often react enthusiastically to trivia. In Peggy Fears' play a drawling Texan rolls a cigaret in a quick flirt with one hand after the manner of riders of the purple sage. It brought down the house.

Bobby Connolly, youngest of stage dance directors, completed his first Broadway play so successfully that a week after the premier the producers invited him to cruise on their yacht. After lifting anchor, one inquired where Connolly would like to go. He replied flippantly: "O, the Fiji Islands would be nice." And that is where they took him on a voyage lasting several months.

* * *

There is the story of the musical comedy librettist, whose book was panned by all critics as humorless. Some weeks later he met Bob Garland for the first time and observed: "Your review was the best laugh I had this season." To which the haggling scholiast replied: "That makes you one up on me."

* * *

And Deems Taylor, the music critic, tried to temper his report of an old timer seeking an operatic comeback with a quality of commendable mercy. He panegyrized her personality, charm, diction and poise. "Only one thing is missing," he wound up, "and that is her high note."

* * *

Rain or shine, the veteran player, David Warfield, visits the Lambs daily to join the pinochle circle. Plodding through West 44th street, he continues to suggest the humility of his most famous role in "The Music Master."

A number—well, one or two anyway—write to inquire how I come on in my abandonment of the cigarette. I'm holding the fort with that somewhat all-gone feeling of finality when some anxiously anticipated event is over. Yet now and then I have a lucid interval. My difficulty at first was concentration and a complete loss of my memory for details. For instance, when a friend such as Simpson phoned I had to run through the alphabet on my fingers—A. B. C. D. E.—before I could say "Hello Ed." But when some of these nicotine stained cells clear up I expect to be just dandy mentally. Many hail a new sparkle in my eye and you can slap me suddenly on the back without producing a wild shriek and a leap out of my breeches.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

About every fifth letter in my fan mail is a wail from an abused wife.

How is she abused? Has her husband beaten her, deprived her of food and proper clothing, neglected his home, played about with other ladies?

No, he has committed none of these crimes.

HE HAS SIMPLY REFUSED TO PLAY WITH HER.

He has come home at night tired—too tired to take her to a dance, or a movie or a bridge party; too tired even to "have folks in."

"Aw, baby, cut it out this evening," he cajoles. "Let's take it easy for once. Gosh, I've been looking forward all day to getting my shoes off and parking myself in the good old chair with a paper an' —"

Then the battle is on.

What did he marry her for anyway, if this is the way he is going to treat her?

Doesn't he realize she needs some amusement, after sticking in the house all day?

He goes out every morning. He sees people; does things; has a good time; and then he begrudges her a little change!

What does he think she is; just a common drudge?

At this point the sobs usually begin. Her remarks are punctuated by big bleats of self-pity.

Lookit Mabel's husband; what a good time he gives Mabel. He isn't too tired to take his wife out at night. He's PROUD to take her out.

Moreover, she doesn't believe in this "tired" alibi.

What does he do to make him tired? Just dress up and see a few people and talk about things! That shouldn't make any regular man tired.

He's downright selfish, that's what he is. He only thinks of his own comfort. He doesn't care for anyone's happiness except his own.

And so on, and on, until the big boy drags himself out of the chair and wearily wends his way playward—or gets so mad that things end in a general free-for-all.

Now why is this? Is it because the wife is a malicious, stupid bully who heartlessly disregards the needs of a tired man?

No, it isn't. The young lady staging the tantrum is as kindly, as intelligent, as truly devoted as her grandma was before her.

BUT SHE ISN'T AS BUSY.

And there's the secret behind 75 per cent of our American divorces.

THE AVERAGE MIDDLE-CLASS AMERICAN WIFE HASN'T ENOUGH TO DO.

This does not apply to laboring wives, or to mothers of large families. It does apply to the childless wife, or the mother of one child, in comfortable circumstances.

The competitive, mechanical age, which drives her husband to the point of daily exhaustion, has taken out of the home most of the tasks which kept grandma's hands and imagination filled for at least eight hustling hours per diem.

The modern missus can do her light housekeeping in two or three hours. She's a healthy, husky animal, as filled with "wim and wigor" as any male. Come night, she's still as fresh as a daisy and rarin' to go—but her husband is a flat tire.

This she can't and won't believe. The chances are that she has never been thoroughly weary in all her life. She has no comprehension of complete physical and mental fatigue. Being a playgirl and nothing but, she does not understand that serious, hard-working adults reach a stage where play is no longer attractive.

Naturally she thinks that her husband's trying to put something over; feels genuinely neglected and abused—and the row is on.

What's the answer? You name it.

A Tireless Propaganda

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Everyone agrees that the reparations imposed on Germany were monstrous in amount, and everyone concedes that Germany cannot pay the whole cost of the war, for everyone now knows, with the ending of the propaganda, that Germany was not solely responsible for the war. It is interesting, however, to learn from Berlin, through an American press association, that Germany "assumes" that if she defaults, all other nations may default—with the exception of the United States, which cannot default. Thus we read, apropos of Germany's announcement, that she must default.

"German observers said the only course then open to the Allies would be to default on their payments to the United States. On the basis of this assumption prospects were regarded as nil for the next reparations payment due July 15 or the Allies' next remittance to the United States due December 15."

And so Europe settled the matter.

All that is now left for us to do is for our Government to default on Liberty and Victory bonds sold to get the money to loan nations that think they can default without a "stigma."

We have but recently called attention to the fact that payments on the loan to the United States take an average of 2 per cent of the entire budget of the debtor nations. If, therefore, Germany must default—and she has paid for years to the point of ruin—then England, France, Italy and the rest cannot possibly reduce the outrageous amounts in their budgets for war purposes 2 per cent to get the money to meet an obligation of honor. Something for the marines!

* * *

If the Defaulting Is to Become the Fashion

In the peace treaty, Germany was disarmed—her navy taken and her army reduced to practically nothing; and the Allies solemnly assured her, and us, that they would proceed to reduce their armaments. Instead of doing so they have increased them until armies are greater now in Europe than before the war.

Strange that "German observers"—if indeed they were German observers—should not think it possible, in view of the promise of the Allies to reduce their armed forces, for them to strike out at least 2 per cent from their outrageous war budgets to get the money to pay the debt they owe.

Thus by meeting their obligation of honor to the United States they would be meeting by a little at least their long defaulted obligation to Germany and the world, on the armies and navies.

Surely the "German observers" do not want the Allies to default on everything. We would always prefer to have "German observers" quoted by name in these days of the big wind from the international bankers of this country, regarding the obligation of honor on our part to tax our people to pay the debts of the 14 nations.

We took no reparations; we took no territory; and we took money from the pockets of our people to loan to nations that took both.

If defaulting is to become the fashion among the nations of Europe it is just as well that we know it now, so we can protect ourselves both in our investments and our loans in the future.

* * *

People of Small Mentality

In a recent article in the New York American, Bainbridge Colby calls attention to the fact that scarcely was the war over when the plan was devised to shift the financial burden of the war to the people of the United States. It has been proposed all along with a pious pretense; and later with all too much arrogance, and not a little impudence. From attempting to shame us into taking over the burdens of the war of all the nations, though unlike the others, we took none of the benefits in reparations or territory, there has been a shift to insult.

Thus the strategy now is to describe everyone who opposes the scheme here as people of small mentality. Can these small Americans not see that the trouble with the world is the expectation of Americans that the debtor nations will meet their obligations? Isn't it plain that the restoration of prosperity depends upon America, with its deficit of more than $2,000,000,000, agreeing to pay the debts of all the other nations?

And from Lord Beaverbrook we get this inspiring thought:

"There must be no more debt payments to the United States. If we make our intentions plain now we will get what we want.

Determined men always get what they want by the mere force of their determination."

But the distinguished British peer evidently assumes the absence of "determination" in Americans.

* * *

"The Narrow Spirit Of Nationalism!"

Who and what is behind this propaganda in America against "the narrow spirit of nationalism?" Where else is this propaganda heard? Not in France; never in history has the spirit of nationalism there been so intense, and never has France looked after the interest of France more zealously and brilliantly. Not in Italy; never since the days of ancient Rome has devotion to Italy, first, last and all the time been so pronounced. Not in England; just now a policy for the empire is being worked out that not only is expected to operate for the empire, but is known to be disadvantageous to other nations. Not in Spain; for the Spanish are seeking to inflame the spirit of nationalism. There is not a state in the Balkans that is not reeking with a rather bellicose kind of nationalism.

But press, radio and platform in America are insisting that we subordinate American interests to the interests of other peoples. That is not the way we grew to dignity and power as a nation.

It is easy to understand why this idea should be pressed upon us by the debtor nations; it is not so easy to understand why so many Americans are urging it.

The only explanation in sight is that it is to the advantage of the international bankers, whose greed led them to make bad loans, that the taxpayers of America pay the debts of 14 nations, so the bankers will have less difficulty in getting payments on their private loans.

* * *

The Answer Has Been Made by Congress

The opposition to the transfer of these debts from the taxpayers of other nations, who owe them, to the taxpayers of this country, who did not get the benefit of the loans made, does not imply ignorance of the fact that in these days there should be international co-operation for the benefit of the entire world.

There might well be an international conference to work out a proper leveling of tariff barriers in the interest of that international trade without which there can be no prosperity; but this is not being pressed with such vehemence.

And there might well be an international arrangement regarding silver—to bring the markets of silver countries within range of gold standard nations.

Both have been urged upon the President by men in Congress who are uncompromisingly opposed to the transfer of the debts. He is adamant.

We are not opposed to that international co-operation which makes for the welfare of all the people of the world; our opposition is directed to a plan to help the other nations at the expense of the American people.

The latter is a form of "international co-operation" to which England, France and Italy would never subscribe; we are invited to subscribe.

And the answer has been made by Congress.
